Hanoi, U.S. Hit New Snag Over Paris Talk Issues

PARIS (AP) — The United States and North Vietnam disputed ground rules for the expanded Vietnam peace talks Wednesday. The talks were indefinitely suspended because of South Vietnam's refusal to participate.

At issue are differing interpretations about whether the bombing halt should include a cessation of U.S. aerial reconnaissance of North Vietnam and how the warring Vietnamese factions will sit at the table to talk peace.

Hanoi's interpretation that the bombing halt should include suspension of reconnaissance flights was raised at a news conference at which Nguyen Thanh Le, North Vietnam's press spokesman in Paris, charged the U.S. flights violated the agreement that brought about the bombing halt.

North Vietnamese spokesmen and spokesmen for the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Viet Cong, also said the United States had agreed both the NLF and the Saigon government would send independent teams to the bargaining table.

Both interpretations were immediately challenged by sources with the U.S. delegation.

They pointed out that President Johnson had made no mention of reconnaissance flights when he announced the end of "all air, naval and artillery bombardment." They said the United States had let it be understood that it would abstain only from the use of force against North Vietnamese territory.

They noted that North Vietnam's chief negotiator in Paris, Xuan Thuy, used the same language—"all acts involving the use of force"—in his acknowledgment Nov. 1 of the bombing halt and his agreement to enlarge the talks.

They said the United States also told North Vietnam before the bombing halt that the reconnaissance flights would continue. A member of the North Vietnamese delegation has confirmed this in a talk with a newsmen.

Le also raised the issue of how many parties would sit down at the peace table when he accused the United States of renegeing on a pledge to hold a "four-party conference Wednesday to find a peaceful settlement of the Vietnam problem."

U.S. officials consider that the understanding was that there would be an "allied side" and a "Communist side" at the enlarged talks with the Saigon regime and the NLF participating as part of the two "sides."

Police said that after the service station holdup the pair started hitch-hiking and was picked up by Paul Timmerman Jr. of Middletown. At gun point, they ordered him to drive them to Dayton but Timmerman managed to escape when they had to stop at nearby Blue Ball for gasoline.

The two fled in Timmerman's car but wrecked it about 200 yards away and they then left on foot. Middletown police, Butler county sheriff's officers and state highway patrolmen, taking up the search, found them in the restaurant. They offered no resistance.

Police said they also recovered an automobile which had been stolen in Dayton.

Nixon At Florida Retreat; Cabinet Choices Pondered

Mayor Daley: 'We Wuz Robbed!'

CHICAGO (AP) — The official vote canvass begins today in Cook County (Chicago) amid charges by both major parties that there was vote finagling in an election which gave Richard M. Nixon the presidency on the strength of Illinois' 26 electoral votes.

Mayor Richard J. Daley, who, as head of the Democratic party machinery in Illinois has sometimes been accused by his opponents of finagling with election returns, said Wednesday the official count "might show some interesting figures."

There were 109 unreported precincts in heavily Democratic Chicago and 84 in suburbs. It was generally conceded that these precincts with 400-500 votes each could not overcome Nixon's 135,502-vote plurality in Illinois over Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

With 95 per cent of the state's 10,694 precincts reported, unofficial returns gave Nixon 2,064,756 votes to Humphrey's 1,929,254.

In 1960 anti-Daley forces charged that tampered returns from Cook County narrowly edged Illinois from the Nixon column in the Nixon-John F. Kennedy election.

Daley was the first Wednesday to claim vote irregularities by the other side. He cited two western suburbs where returns were delayed. The implication was that the delay could permit strengthening the Republican area if the election were very close—a maneuver Republicans charged Daley performed in 1960 when Nixon lost Illinois by less than 9,000 votes.

Asked if he charged irregularities in the western suburbs, Daley said, "Certainly."

"Our watchers said that," he added. "I say, frankly and honestly, there are and have been township clerks and others unlawfully assuming authority. We should watch the townships and the downstate counties."

Daley, who virtually chose the candidates himself, saw most of his state ticket go down to defeat. But Democrats made a sweep of Cook County offices.

Gov. Samuel H. Shapiro, seeking election to his first full term, was defeated by Republican Richard B. Ogilvie, who has been a thorn in Daley's side since Ogilvie's election as sheriff of Cook County in 1962.

Only three Democratic candidates—and these independent of Daley and one a subtle critic of the mayor—were elected on the state ticket.

On the way he stopped off for a sentimental visit in Washington with his hospitalized former chief, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

As the tide of more than 70 million votes continued to flow in from outlying precincts, mainly in the West, Nixon actually trailed by 29,730,272 to 29,726,409 vote behind Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey in the 70-million-plus popular vote.

Professor Proves He's Poor Prophet

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Political science professor Clinton Rossiter, who turned out to be a "lousy" prophet in the presidential election, kept his promise and ate a hat.

About a year ago, Rossiter said he would eat a hat belonging to Cornell University President James E. Perkins if third-party candidate George C. Wallace got more than 2.7 per cent of the vote.

Monday a classified ad in the Cornell Sun, student daily, reminded Rossiter of his promise.

Wednesday, when it was apparent Wallace would have about 15 per cent of the vote, a notice in the Sun suggested that Rossiter do his hat eating on the steps of Olin Library.

Rossiter appeared carrying a palm-leaf hat. He chewed on the hat several times before a group of students produced a hat-shaped cake, with a band around it reading "property of James Perkins."

Said Rossiter: "I'll say one thing that I've said to my students for 20 years, and they never believed me, and now I hope they will: professors of political science and history are lousy prophets."

Murder-Suicide In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — A man and his estranged wife were shot to death here early today in what police said was an apparent murder and suicide.

The shooting occurred in a trailer park and the bodies were found by one of the couple's six children. The children had been with neighbors.

Washington Stop Made To Visit Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, his narrow presidential triumph cemented by late election returns, chose the privacy of a Florida retreat today to start forming the new Republican administration he hopes will "bring the American people together."

Faced with the most pressing tasks of determining his immediate role in Vietnam peace efforts and picking the men who will guide the nation's destiny for the next four years, Nixon flew from New York to Key Biscayne, Fla., for what was billed as a few days rest.

On the way he stopped off for a sentimental visit in Washington with his hospitalized former chief, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

As the tide of more than 70 million votes continued to flow in from outlying precincts, mainly in the West, Nixon actually trailed by 29,730,272 to 29,726,409 vote behind Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey in the 70-million-plus popular vote.

Some Didn't Take Election Seriously

Watson Spangler and Eugene McCarthy lead the write-in campaigns on Pickaway County election ballots Tuesday.

Results of the write-in votes were counted at the Pickaway County Board of Elections offices Thursday morning and showed Walt Spangler leading the write-in candidates for sheriff. Spangler had 27 write-in votes to Dwight Radcliff's 9,523 votes.

Other area residents whose names were written in for sheriff included Clarence Maxson, 10; James Lockard, 8; Jack Mills, 6; Fred Brungs and Byron Barnes, 2 each and one vote each to George Porter, William Leist, Mike Purcell, Egidio Centofanti, George Linder, William Eelman, Roe Riegel and Dick Tooth.

Eugene McCarthy lead the local write-in contest, for president with five votes. Pat Paulson, a television comedian, and Charlene Mitchell, candidate of the Communist Party, both received two votes. One vote each went to Heming Blomen, Socialist Labor candidate, Donald Duek with Mickey Mouse as his vice presidential candidate, General Curtis LeMay, Mayor John Lindsey, McGovern and Ted Kennedy.

Michigan Votes Daylight Time

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan clocks will continually be switched back and forth with the seasons following narrow voter approval of daylight saving time for the state.

With more than 97 per cent of the votes counted unofficially, the tabulation of Tuesday's vote showed the proposal carrying by about 27,000 votes out of some 2.7 million.

The heaviest negative vote came from rural counties while heavily populated areas generally favored the idea of setting clocks ahead one hour for six months of the year.

Thieu Invites Nixon Visit; War To Be Of Top Concern

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu today invited President-elect Richard M. Nixon to visit South Vietnam "to make an on-the-spot assessment of the war and the situation" in this country.

There are no immediate signs that Nixon has decided he wants to make a personal pilgrimage, although he said in the late stages of his presidential campaign that he is willing to travel to either Saigon or Paris to get the stalled peace talks moving.

The possibility remained, however, that Johnson might decide to ask the president-elect to help convince South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu to send a delegation to the Paris meetings with North Vietnam.

Thieu's refusal to join in negotiations that include the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong, has stalled the Paris negotiations.

Nixon suggested in a campaign TV speech last Sunday that "President Johnson and President-elect Nixon could knock out the idea that Hanoi is going to gain from the negotiating table what they cannot gain from the battlefield—an obvious fear of the Saigon government."

There has been speculation that Saigon may be more willing to listen to Nixon or his representative at this point than to Johnson.

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — A Dayton man and a 16-year-old youth were captured here early today in connection with a service station holdup, seizure of a motorist and an automobile theft.

The two arrested at a Middletown restaurant during a widespread search were listed as Robert Phillips, 25, and Larry Jones, 16.

Police said that after the service station holdup the pair started hitch-hiking and was picked up by Paul Timmerman Jr. of Middletown. At gun point, they ordered him to drive them to Dayton but Timmerman managed to escape when they had to stop at nearby Blue Ball for gasoline.

Governorships Go Republican

Lineup To Be 31 GOP, 19 Demo

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six of the seven biggest states will have Republican governors next January, with the GOP holding a 31 to 19 edge nationwide—the party's biggest majority since the first years of the Eisenhower administration.

In all, Republicans will replace Democratic governors in seven states and there will be Democrats in place of Republicans in two others—for a net GOP gain of five.

Ironically, the Republican presidential victory Tuesday will eventually put another statehouse in the Democratic column. Maryland has no lieutenant governor and the successor to Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, vice president-elect will be named by the Democratic-controlled legislature.

The election of Richard B. Ogilvie puts Illinois in Republican hands along with New York, California, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan where governors were not up for re-election. Texas, which elected Lt. Gov. D. Preston Smith to succeed retiring Gov. John Connally, is the only one of the most populous seven to have a Democrat as governor.

Besides Illinois, states that switched from a Democrat to a Republican are Delaware, Indiana, Iowa, New Hampshire, Vermont and West Virginia. Montana and Rhode Island went from a Republican to a Democrat.

Otherwise, the parties had an even split Tuesday. Arizona, New Mexico, South Dakota, Washington, Wisconsin and Arkansas, returned Republicans to the governor's mansion. Kansas, Missouri, North Carolina, North Dakota, and Utah joined Texas in retaining Democrats.

A total of 13 Republicans and 8 Democrats were elected. States that did not have a gubernatorial election this year were in control of 18 Republicans and 11 Democrats.

Absentee Votes May Oust Morse From Senate

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Counting boards in a dozen Oregon counties will determine today whether Wayne Morse, a U.S. senator for 24 years, has been replaced by Robert Packwood, 36, Portland Republican.

Absentee ballots held the decision after the unofficial count wound up with Packwood ahead by 2,433 votes—395,574 to 393,141.

Some county clerks said it would be late today before they finished the tally of absentee votes.

Because nearly 5,000 of the 14,000 absentee ballots to be counted were in Lane, Morse's home county, there was no certainty that Packwood would hold his lead.

Ohio Republican Leaders Happy With Vote Result

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Republicans viewed Tuesday's election results as "magnificent victories."

Democrats were saying, in effect, "Wait until next time."

Officials of both parties conceded that the presence of George C. Wallace probably had some effect on the outcome.

GOP State Chairman John S. Andrews said William B. Saxbe's victory over John J. Gilligan in the U.S. Senate race was due to "Saxbe's excellent qualifications for the job, his will to win, and to the hard campaigning he had done."

He said key factors in the GOP triumph in Ohio were hard work by leaders, workers and candidates throughout the campaign.

Eugene P. O'Grady, Democratic state chairman, paid tribute to the candidates and party workers and congratulated the winners, adding:

"We look forward to giving them a better scrap the next time around."

He said Gilligan and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey "worked hard to take the issues to the people."

Complete unofficial returns in more than 13,000 polling places showed Saxbe outdistancing Gilligan 1,919,101 to 1,802,625.

Richard M. Nixon captured Ohio's prized 26 electoral votes with 1,783,734 votes to Humphrey's 1,691,505.

George Wallace of the American Independent Party polled 465,917.

Saxbe told newsmen Wednesday that he will work in the Senate to seek an end to the Vietnam war and to control inflation and aid local law enforcement by establishing national training academies and assisting states in buying crime communications computers.

In other races Tuesday, Ohio elected 24 congressmen, 18 of them Republicans. Except for two races in the Cleveland area, all incumbents were returned to office.

Voters in the 22nd District elected Frances P. Bolton, 83-year-old widow with 28 years' service in Congress, and elected Charles A. Vanik, who moved against Mrs. Bolton when his 21st District was revamped.

Muskie Eyes Future Plans

WATERVILLE, Maine (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, the defeated Democratic vice presidential nominee, says the campaign didn't generate any personal presidential ambitions for 1972.

But the Maine junior senator told newsmen Wednesday, "I suspect I have to consider it because you guys keep posing the question."

Wearing slacks and a windbreaker—for a game of golf after his brief news conference—Muskie said he planned to return with his family to Washington today, because his children have to return to school.

After receiving word of the Republican victory Wednesday, Muskie sent a message to Vice President-elect Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland, offering "congratulations and good wishes."

Then Muskie told newsmen that the Democrats, in the majority in Congress, will "focus on our responsibility now as the party of opposition."

Vanik's old seat. Democrat Louis Stokes, brother of Cleveland Mayor Carl B. Stokes, won.

Republicans continued their domination of the Ohio General Assembly. They will control the Senate 21-12 and the House 64-35.

State Issue No. 1, calling for $759 million for highway and capital improvements, was approved by more than 176,000 votes. But voters rejected by more than 450,000 votes Issue No. 2, another constitutional amendment for an enabling law for a homestead exemption act.

Ohio Supreme Court Chief Justice Kingsley A. Taft, a Republican, easily won re-election over John C. Duffy. Also winning high court seats were Republicans Thomas M. Herbert and John M. Matthias.

Alaska Vote Gives Nixon Slight Edge

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon held a 1,000-vote edge in Alaska Thursday as results from Tuesday's election continued to trickle in from isolated "bush" precincts and the state prepared to count about 7,000 absentee votes.

With a record 70,000 votes tallied, results from some 75 outlying districts and from Friday's absentee count will decide the allocation of Alaska's three electoral votes.

State election officials explained that severe radio interference had stalled returns from precincts that have no other way but by mail to report their results.

The latest count showed Nixon leading with 32,245 to Hubert H. Humphrey's 31,337. George C. Wallace had 8,623.

Even if Nixon carries Alaska, it will be a bitter victory for Alaska Gov. Walter J. Hickel, one of the President-elect's staunchest supporters.

The same voters who elected Hickel and a predominantly Republican state legislature two years ago turned the tables Tuesday and gave control of the House to the Democrats. A GOP majority in the Senate was reduced.

The governor also was disappointed by voter rejection of an $18 million bond issue for the state ferry system, the subject of controversy since Hickel authorized purchase of a Swedish ferry liner. The federal Jones Act prohibits the ferry from carrying passengers between

Nixon Victory Breaks Record

RATON, N.M. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon's victory in the presidential election broke a 56-year-old record in Colfax County, in northern New Mexico.

Since statehood in 1912, the county always has voted on the side of the winner in a presidential race.

Unofficial returns in Tuesday's election show the county giving Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey 2,477 votes, Nixon 2,212 and third-party candidate George C. Wallace 262.

New Mexico, which always has gone for the presidential winner since statehood, continues in that tradition. Nixon carried the state.

A number of calls were received today as the result of several huge planes flying over the city at a very low altitude Wednesday. ... We don't know what, if anything, can be done concerning flight patterns etc., but if enough written comment is received, the matter will be probed in an effort to find a solution.

Professor Proves He's Poor Prophet

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Political science professor Clinton Rossiter, who turned out to be a "lousy" prophet in the presidential election, kept his promise and ate a hat.

About a year ago, Rossiter said he would eat a hat belonging to Cornell University President James E. Perkins if third-party candidate George C. Wallace got more than 2.7 per cent of the vote.

Monday a classified ad in the Cornell Sun, student daily, reminded Rossiter of his promise.

Wednesday, when it was apparent Wallace would have about 15 per cent of the vote, a notice in the Sun suggested that Rossiter do his hat eating on the steps of Olin Library.

Rossiter appeared carrying a palm-leaf hat. He chewed on the hat several times before a group of students produced a hat-shaped cake, with a band around it reading "property of James Perkins."

Said Rossiter: "I'll say one thing that I've said to my students for 20 years, and they never believed me, and now I hope they will: professors of political science and history are lousy prophets."

Murder-Suicide In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP)—A man and his estranged wife were shot to death here early today in what police said was an apparent murder and suicide.

They said Thomas Hendrickson, 43, shot his wife, Delores, 42, and then turned the gun on himself.

The shooting occurred in a trailer park and the bodies were found by one of the couple's six children. The children had been with neighbors.

Washington Stop Made To Visit Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, his narrow presidential triumph cemented by late election returns, chose the privacy of a Florida retreat today to start forming the new Republican administration he hopes will "bring the American people together."

Faced with the most pressing tasks of determining his immediate role in Vietnam peace efforts and picking the men who will guide the nation's destiny for the next four years, Nixon flew from New York to Key Biscayne, Fla., for what was billed as a few days rest.

On the way he stopped off for a sentimental visit in Washington with his hospitalized former chief, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

As the tide of more than 70 million votes continued to flow in from outlying precincts, mainly in the West, Nixon actually trailed by 29,730,272 to 29,726,409 vote behind Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey in the 70-million-plus popular vote.

But his electoral vote total, securely past the needed total of

Some Didn't Take Election Seriously

Watson Spangler and Eugene McCarthy lead the write-in campaigns on Pickaway County election ballots Tuesday.

Results of the write-in votes were counted at the Pickaway County Board of Elections offices Thursday morning and showed Walt Spangler leading the write-in candidates for sheriff. Spangler had 27 write-in votes to Dwight Radcliff's 9,523 votes.

Other area residents whose names were written in for sheriff included Clarence Maxson, 10; James Lockard, 8; Jack Mills, 6; Fred Brungs and Byron Barnes, 2 each and one vote each to George Porter, William Leist, Mike Purcell, Egidio Centofanti, George Linder, William Ehaman, Roe Riegel and Dick Tootle.

Eugene McCarthy lead the local write-in contest, for president with five votes. Pat Paulson, a television comedian, and Charlene Mitchell, candidate of the Communist Party, both received two votes. One vote each went to Heming Blomen, Socialist Labor candidate, Donald Duek with Mickey Mouse as his vice presidential candidate, General Curtis LeMay, Mayor John Lindsey, McGovern and Ted Kennedy.

Michigan Votes Daylight Time

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan clocks will continually be switched back and forth with the seasons following narrow voter approval of daylight saving time for the state.

With more than 97 per cent of the votes counted unofficially, the tabulation of Tuesday's vote showed the proposal carrying by about 27,000 votes out of some 2.7 million.

The heaviest negative vote came from rural counties while heavily populated areas generally favored the idea of setting clocks ahead one hour for six months of the year.

Japanese Police Quell Outbreak

TOKYO (AP) — More than 3,000 radical students protesting the U.S.-Japan security treaty clashed with riot police tonight when they tried to break into Prime Minister Eisaku Sato's official residence.

About 10,000 police used tear gas and water guns to repel the students, who wore steel helmets and were armed with wooden staves.

New Directors Named For Area C of C

Seven newly elected directors of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce were named Tuesday during a noon meeting of the Board at the Pickaway Arms.

The new directors, who will serve during 1969 and 1970, are Howard Bobo, Sam Foster, Rev. Melvin Maxwell, Dr. William Myers, Richard Plum, Wayne Smith, and Ernil Stonerock.

It was announced that the Ohio Department of Distributive Education will present a one-night clinic on check-passing detection which will be open to the general public. The clinic will be held 7:30 p.m. Nov. 21, at the Circleville High School.

George Fuhrman, chairman of Retail Merchants Assn., told directors that merchants would observe nearly the same hours as last year during the Christmas shopping season. He noted stores would stay open until 9 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays beginning Nov. 22. Stores will be open nightly until 9 p.m. beginning Dec. 5.

A discussion was held concerning the development of tourist attractions within the area. A report is expected to be made at the December meeting.

Smoothness Of Power Shift Oiled By Expense Accounts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon and Spiro T. Agnew are beneficiaries of more advance planning for the transfer of government than ever before in United States history.

They will be the first to avail themselves of a $750,000 transitional expense account provided by Congress in 1964 which President Johnson as the incumbent didn't need.

And Johnson himself acted months ago to smooth the way by appointing a liaison man to plan with representatives of the three major candidates for the 76 days of decision that would face the new presidential team.

Ashville Man Charged With OMVI, Speeding

An Ashville man was cited for drunk driving and excessive speed after he and a Chillicothe man were injured in an auto accident Wednesday.

Charles Kelly, 45, was southbound on Route 23 near the intersection of Route 752 about 4:55 p.m. when a car in front of him driven by 27-year-old Roy Smith Jr. of Chillicothe began to slow down for a third car making a turn.

The Kelly vehicle failed to slow in time and struck the Smith car in the rear causing moderate damage to both automobiles. Kelly and 23-year-old Wayne Cunningham, a passenger in the Smith car, were taken to Berger Hospital for emergency treatment.

Charges were filed against Kelly by the State Highway Patrol. He was released on a $500 bond on the drunk driving charge and $100 bond on the speeding charge.

East End Council To Be Formed

PICCA (Pickaway County Community Action) is forming an East End Community Council.

An initial meeting was held Wednesday at the AME Church, 422 S. Pickaway St.

Mike Flynn, PICCA executive director, told nine area residents of the basic PICCA program and urged them to inform Community Action of their opinions of community and personal needs.

"We must have two-way dialogue," Flynn said. "Having your active support, participation, and constructive criticism will make the entire program much more valuable."

Another meeting will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday at the AME Church. Officers and an executive board will be elected. The area covers Union Street to the N & W Railroad between Pickaway and Renick Ave.

Persons over 18 and residing within the defined area are eligible to vote for the Executive Board.

Residents attending the initial meeting were Miss Clesta Thomas, and Mayo Davis, PICCA trustees, and Mrs. Leroy Pence, Mrs. Romah King, Mrs. Donna Rutter, Mrs. Fannie Grockowski, Mrs. Janet Holcomb and Mrs. Vivian Lewis.

Grechko Omits U.S., Vietnam From Speech

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Defense Minister Andrei A. Grechko omitted the usual attack on the United States today as the Soviet Union celebrated the 51st anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution with a display of missile might that included no new weapons.

In another break with tradition, Marshal Grechko in his speech at the annual Red Square ceremony made no mention of Vietnam.

The defense minister, flanked on Lenin's tomb by Soviet leaders, spoke only against "imperialists" in general, repeating the standard Soviet charge that they are "increasing tensions and creating the danger of a new world war."

Grechko did not refer to the U.S. presidential election or the Vietnam peace talks in Paris. But the departures from the usual wording of his speech seemed to indicate that the Kremlin does not want to hurt its chances of getting along with President-elect Richard M. Nixon.

They also appeared to be aimed at avoiding anything that might hamper progress toward bringing the Vietnam war to an end.

Grechko, in probably the mildest Bolshevik anniversary speech made here in many years, also refrained from attacking China or any other country by name.

His five-minute speech, always closely watched for indications of changes in Kremlin thinking, bore down heavily on the theme of Communist unity and threats to this from the West. This new emphasis was obviously linked to the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia and the dissension that caused in the Communist movement.

Philpot Group Finalizes Crusade Plans

New President Could Collide Early With 91st Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite a pledge from Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield to support Richard M. Nixon "when he is right", the incoming Republican president could collide early with the still Democratic Congress.

A likely point of early contention could be the use of tax credits, rather than programs depending on appropriations, to finance social objectives.

An Ashville man was cited for drunk driving and excessive speed after he and a Chillicothe man were injured in an auto accident Wednesday.

Charles Kelly, 45, was south-bound on Route 23 near the intersection of Route 752 about 4:55 p.m. when a car in front of him driven by 27-year-old Roy Smith Jr. of Chillicothe began to slow down for a third car making a turn.

The Kelly vehicle failed to slow in time and struck the Smith car in the rear causing moderate damage to both automobiles. Kelly and 23-year-old Wayne Cunningham, a passenger in the Smith car, were taken to Berger Hospital for emergency treatment.

Charges were filed against Kelly by the State Highway Patrol. He was released on a $500 bond on the drunk driving charge and $100 bond on the speeding charge.

East End Council To Be Formed

PICCA (Pickaway County Community Action) is forming an East End Community Council.

An initial meeting was held Wednesday at the AME Church, 422 S. Pickaway St.

Mike Flynn, PICCA executive director, told nine area residents of the basic PICCA program and urged them to inform Community Action of their opinions of community and personal needs.

"We must have two-way dialogue," Flynn said. "Having your active support, participation, and constructive criticism will make the entire program much more valuable."

Another meeting will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday at the AME Church. Officers and an executive board will be elected. The area covers Union Street between Pickaway and Renick Ave.

Persons over 18 and residing within the defined area are eligible to vote for the Executive Board.

Residents attending the initial meeting were Miss Clesta Thomas, and Mayo Davis, PICCA trustees, and Mrs. Leroy Pence, Mrs. Romah King, Mrs. Donna Rutter, Mrs. Fannie Grockowski, Mrs. Janet Holcomb and Mrs. Vivian Lewis.

Motorists Pay Court $294

Virginia A. Shaffer, 25, of 461 Dearborn Ave., was given a $25 suspended fine by Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb Wednesday.

She was cited for failure to register a motor vehicle.

Motorists who do not live in the Pickaway County area paid fines, costs and bond forfeitures totaling $294.

Grechko Omits U.S., Vietnam From Speech

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Defense Minister Andrei A. Grechko omitted the usual attack on the United States today as the Soviet Union celebrated the 51st anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution with a display of missile might that included no new weapons.

In another break with tradition, Marshal Grechko in his speech at the annual Red Square ceremony made no mention of Vietnam.

The defense minister, flanked on Lenin's tomb by Soviet leaders, spoke only against "imperialists" in general, repeating the standard Soviet charge that they are "increasing tensions and creating the danger of a new world war."

Grechko did not refer to the U.S. presidential election or the Vietnam peace talks in Paris. But the departures from the usual wording of his speech seemed to indicate that the Kremlin does not want to hurt its chances of getting along with President-elect Richard M. Nixon.

They also appeared to be aimed at avoiding anything that might hamper progress toward bringing the Vietnam war to an end.

Grechko, in probably the mildest Bolshevik anniversary speech made here in many years, also refrained from attacking China or any other country by name.

His five-minute speech, always closely watched for indications of changes in Kremlin thinking, bore down heavily on the theme of Communist unity and threats to this from the West. This new emphasis was obviously linked to the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia and the dissension that caused in the Communist movement.

Members of the Board of Trustees and the management team of South Central Power Company, last week completed their annual tour of high points of the power company's 3,400-square mile service area.

This year, as last, the tour was conducted by chartered bus, with S. J. "Bud" Fischer, director of public relations as tour guide. He was assisted by Robert Swinehart, director of operations; Dwight Pierce of the public relations field staff; Sanford Haigh, area coordinator for the Highland Division at Hillsboro, and William Ridge, Chief Engineer.

On the first day of the tour the board met at Quality Court Motel in Circleville, and boarded the bus for a trip that took them to Logan Elm Village, Northwood Park, Clark's Lake Shore Acres, and Deer Creek Dam before lunch.

In the afternoon the tour proceeded to the Southerly Sewage Disposal Plant South of Shadysville, to the American Aggregates Plant near Lockbourne, and to the Anchor Hocking Industrial complex under construction north of Lancaster.

On Friday, Nov. 1, the tour concentrated in the Highland Division area, visiting the recreational facilities at Rocky Fork Lake and Seven Caves.

At 2 p.m. Sunday, the usher rehearsal will be held at the Good Shepherd United Methodist Church. Also at 2 p.m. Sunday, a music rehearsal will be held at the fairgrounds coliseum.

At 7 p.m. Sunday, the Sunday School Committee meeting will be held at the Church of the Nazarene.

At 9 a.m. Tuesday, a cabinet meeting will be held at the office. At 6:30 a.m. Thursday a business men's breakfast will be held at the 4-H and Grange Building.

Mrs. Carl Morris, 52, Williamsport, is listed in poor condition at Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, following an alleged self-inflicted gunshot wound Wednesday.

A bullet from a 22 caliber rifle entered Mrs. Morris' head near the chin and lodged in the fore head, according to reports of the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

Mrs. Morris was taken to Berger Hospital about 1:15 p.m. Wednesday following the incident at her home. After emergency treatment at Berger Hospital she was transferred to Mt. Carmel Hospital.

New President Could Collide Early With 91st Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite a pledge from Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield to support Richard M. Nixon "when he is right", the incoming Republican president could collide early with the still Democratic Congress.

A likely point of early contention could be the use of tax credits, rather than programs depending on appropriations, to finance social objectives.

Another test of both presidential and congressional intentions will come when the new, but not much changed, Congress goes to work in January on the budget prepared by President Johnson.

If he recommends full funding of the programs associated with his and the previous Democratic administration instead of the pared-down appropriations Congress has voted in the past, Nixon will be under pressure to show quickly to what extent he intends to economize.

The GOP made a net gain of four seats, but still winds up on the short end of a 243-192 lineup in the House.

In the Senate, Republicans gained four seats and possibly five depending on the outcome of the Oregon race where liberal Wayne Morse trails in a fight for political survival.

Records of newly elected senators, however, indicate that chamber may have a slightly more conservative tone than in the 90th Congress where the Republican-Southern Democratic coalition was a major force.

Democrats in both chambers will continue to hold committee chairmanships.

Mansfield pledged Wednesday that the Senate's Democratic majority will not oppose Nixon's recommendations to Congress "just for the sake of opposition."

"We'll give him our loyal support when he is right," Mansfield told a reporter. "When we disagree, we'll oppose not just for the sake of opposition but will try to offer constructive alternatives."

270 after cliff-hanger victories in Illinois, Ohio and California, appeared headed for 302 when late returns gave him the lead in Missouri where more than 100,000 absentee ballots will be decisive.

Absentee votes were also expected to decide Maryland where Humphrey was leading.

President Johnson returned to the capital from Texas for the 75-day homestretch of his presidency, pledging to Nixon "everything in my power to make your burdens lighter" during the transition period.

Earlier in San Antonio, the Texas White House said that, at Nixon's request, a government aircraft had been made available to him. He already has Secret Service protection.

Johnson also offered Nixon government office space in Washington, but the winner said he would continue to work out of his New York offices in the weeks ahead.

Selection of a Cabinet, a White House staff and such other top aides as a budget director are among Nixon's first chores.

Detroit radio station WJR said Gov. George Romney of Michigan, who made a brief bid last winter for the GOP presidential nomination, probably will be Nixon's secretary of commerce. The station also forecast that Dist. Atty. Evelle J. Younger of Los Angeles County "will become the next attorney general," and that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York would be named "either as secretary of state or secretary of defense — most likely the latter."

Good At Figures, Bad At Budgets

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a husband who spends more than he earns? Sam is very extravagant, and says as long as he's the one who makes the money in the family he can spend it as he sees fit. (He doesn't save a dime.)

We're behind on our payments for things he's bought on time, and since Sam has insisted on handling the checkbook we are always overdrawn.

My husband's occupation? An accountant.

FED UP

DEAR FED UP: So what is new? The shoemaker's kids go barefoot, doctors neglect their own health, and lawyers get into legal jams. So why can't an accountant mishandle his own money? My advice to you is to take your books out of your husband's office before you wind up in the poor house.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 13-year-old boy and I hate school. How do I get kicked out?

SICK OF SCHOOL
DEAR SICK: School-haters need advice on how to STAY IN school, not how to get kicked out. Stay with it. You'll recover, and I promise you, you'll never regret it.

DEAR ABBY: Please print this for "HEARTSICK," the young wife who found some beads in the front seat of her husband's car.

Several years ago, I left my husband in a restaurant to curl up in the front seat of the car as it was very late and I was exhausted. It was pitch dark in the parking area.

I kicked off my shoes and curled up in the front seat of what turned out to be the same make and model car as ours. The next thing I knew, a strange man was shaking me awake, asking me what I was doing in his car? I was so frightened and mortified that I ran off without my shoes.

I am still "heartsick" for that poor man who no doubt had to explain the presence of a pair of ladies' shoes in his car. Your advice—to give the husband a break even in the face of all that incriminating evidence—was excellent.

What kind of reception does YOUR man get when he comes home?

Most men drag their weary bodies home after a hard day of wrestling with bosses, customers and competitive co-workers. No sooner do they get a foot in the door when the little woman hits them with the junior's report card, or the news that Penelope needs a new dress for the prom.

During dinner, the old arguments are aired about Susie's make-up and David's hair. Also the washing machine man was there today and said that to fix the machine would cost nearly as much as a new one, so how about it?

Then evening falls, and the bedroom is supposed to be transformed into the honeymoon suite at the Waldorf. Ha! He is tired, and she is tired of being told he's tired.

So, improve your timing, Lady. Greet your man at the door with a smile and a kiss. Shove the bills in the drawer, table those complaints, and tell the kids to keep quiet or you'll put a muzzle on 'em. If you want to be loved, set the emotional climate in your home.

Dear Editor:

I am just a housewife but I have read letters in your paper concerning business in Circleville from some of the citizens as to why Circleville doesn't have business to keep the people buying in Circleville instead of going to Columbus or some of the other larger towns.

Well here are some examples as to why. First, I have been trying to get a piece of pipe for a furnace. Well I called everyone that might be connected with this kind of work. Well here is the story I got. We carry them but we just ran out I'll have them out of Columbus tomorrow for sure or they are on the truck coming out of Columbus be in at 6 p.m. I called at 6 p.m. and the truck will be in from Columbus at 6:15 p.m.

And there is a store that tells you "we carry them we just ran out but will have some in two weeks." Well this isn't the dark ages so why should it take so long for them to come into town, as they would not be on a covered wagon anyway.

Two — I don't expect to be catered to but if you ask a clerk anything it's either not their department or they don't even know you are there.

I have a very good friend who wanted to buy something for a wedding anniversary at a store in Circleville. They had something on display she wanted.

Well they discovered there wasn't any in stock. They would order for her. But they could not tear down a display to sell. She picked out another gift. It also was out of stock. They kept her waiting for 30 minutes to tell her she could not buy anything on display.

I have always had a motto "It Doesn't Pay To Advertise If You Don't Have The Goods." Well that goes for many of the stores in Circleville.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The suspense, building inexorably over a 17-hour period, had become painful when, suddenly, it was over. Around 10:30 a.m., EST, the computers put Illinois into Nixon's column and television's greatest drama and longest program of the season came to a climax. The nation had seen its president elected, and the big show was over.

The windup was moving. First there were the closeups of a man near tears, fatigue puffing his face, gamely conceding defeat and generously congratulating his successful opponent.

The wear of Richard M. Nixon's long campaign and election-night vigil showed on his face, too, a half-hour later when he appeared before the cameras.

By one audience poll, some 65-million Americans had watched the returns on the three major networks through Tuesday evening.

From early dawn until Illinois ballots started to come in during the morning, the most interesting—and static—statistics were 43-43-14, the percentage of popular votes rolled up by the candidates: Nixon, Humphrey and Wallace.

Since the live windup of the national election had been strictly a day-time show, it was repeated at the end of the day, in the news shows and in special. NBC had an hour's resume during the dinner hour and CBS had an hour's program at the end of its evening schedule.

Bob Hope, who came along on NBC Wednesday night with a special program, was following a very tough act, attempting to entertain an audience that had stayed up most of the previous night.

Hope started his usual monologue at the top of the show, a taped portion with the astronauts in Houston—some space jokes and a couple of observations about Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis's recent wedding.

Then Hope dealt with the election battle. He wisely kept his jokes on the gentle side, and observed that Nixon "from force of habit had conceded," that Alfred Hitchcock had demanded equal time to match the suspenseful ballot count down, and concluded "Now we can get the regular comedians back on the air."

It wasn't typical Hope, but it was shrewd showmanship. And, in the program that followed, his costars, astronauts Schirra, Eisele and Cunningham, were given most of the good comedy lines. What's more, they handled them neatly.

Agnew Urges Rededication

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Vice President-elect Spiro T. Agnew plans to spend the rest of the week clearing his desk of the paper work that has been accumulating since his campaign began, then take some time off in the Virgin Islands.

The Maryland governor told a small group of party faithful Wednesday afternoon when results of the 1968 election finally crystallized that "today is a time for celebration and rededication."

"Let all Americans share in this moment of rededication by rejecting partisanship and repudiating extremism," he said.

"The goal is not to destroy, but to create a better America. Now the time of competition is past and the time for cooperation begins. I welcome this moment when we begin the very real task of reuniting America with fresh vision under new leadership," he said.

9 Prisoners Face Charges

CINCINNATI (AP) — Nine Negro prisoners at the Cincinnati Workhouse will now appear in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court Saturday on charges of assault and battery in the beating of a white inmate Oct. 27.

Three more prisoners were recently charged in the beating of Richard W. Oney, 19, Chillicothe, who remains in critical condition at General Hospital. Six inmates were charged earlier.

Key Biscayne To Become Nixon's 'Little White House'

KEY BISCAINE, Fla. (AP) — Only minutes had passed since he was declared the president-elect of the United States, but already Richard M. Nixon was packing his bags. He was leaving New York right away, he said, for Key Biscayne in Florida.

For 17 years, this tight little tropic island has been Nixon's favorite hideaway—the place where he always comes to celebrate the victories and contemplate the setbacks of an up-and-down political career.

And, unless all signs fail, it will for the next four years be the site of the nation's "Little White House."

During his numerous visits here, Nixon has stayed at the Key Biscayne villas, on grounds of the Key Biscayne Hotel; at the home of C. G. (Bebe) Rebozo, a long-time friend, and at the home of Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., adjacent to the Rebozo home.

It was here that Nixon came in despair in 1960, to lick the wounds of his narrow defeat by President John F. Kennedy. It was here that Kennedy sought him out and, in a dramatic meeting, accepted his congratulations.

It was here that Nixon went into seclusion to draft plans for the final two-week blitz campaign that enabled him to stage off the late rush of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. And it was here that he returned Wednesday night in the moment of his greatest triumph.

Key Biscayne is a palm-studded beauty spot where peace and solitude can be found only 15 minutes by car from the bright lights of Miami.

Akron Seeking Cash For Raises

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—City officials are seeking more revenue to avoid a large deficit within three years following approval of a charter amendment increasing the pay of police and firemen.

The amendment was approved Tuesday by a count of 52,128 to 43,504. It boosts salaries of patrolmen and firemen from $8,237 to $9,152 a year in their fourth year on the job, effective Jan. 1.

It also authorizes hiring of 120 new patrolmen in the next three years and granting a spread of 16 per cent in the top salary between higher ranks, but make no provision for financing the changes.

Body Recovered From Ohio River

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Fire Department life squad recovered the body of John Payne, 52, of Cincinnati from the Ohio River Wednesday near a boat dock from where he disappeared Saturday.

He was reported missing since he left a cafe on the dock.

NEW YORK (AP)—The suspense, building inexorably over a 17-hour period, had become painful when, suddenly, it was over. Around 10:30 a.m., EST, the computers put Illinois into Nixon's column and television's greatest drama and longest program of the season came to a climax. The nation had seen its president elected, and the big show was over.

The windup was moving. First there were the closeups of a man near tears, fatigue puffing his face, gamely conceding defeat and generously congratulating his successful opponent.

The wear of Richard M. Nixon's long campaign and election-night vigil showed on his face, too, a half-hour later when he appeared before the cameras.

By one audience poll, some 65-million Americans had watched the returns on the three major networks through Tuesday evening.

From early dawn until Illinois ballots started to come in during the morning, the most interesting—and static—statistics were 43-43-14, the percentage of popular votes rolled up by the candidates Nixon, Humphrey and Wallace.

Since the live windup of the national election had been strictly a day-time show, it was repeated at the end of the day, in the news shows and in special. NBC had an hour's resume during the dinner hour and CBS had an hour's program at the end of its evening schedule.

Bob Hope, who came along on NBC Wednesday night with a special program, was following a very tough act, attempting to entertain an audience that had stayed up most of the previous night.

Hope started his usual monologue at the top of the show, a taped portion with the astronauts in Houston—some space jokes and a couple of observations about Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis's recent wedding.

Then Hope dealt with the election battle. He wisely kept his jokes on the gentle side, and observed that Nixon "from force of habit had conceded," that Alfred Hitchcock had demanded equal time to match the suspenseful ballot count down, and concluded "Now we can get the regular comedians back on the air."

It wasn't typical Hope, but it was shrewd showmanship. And, in the program that followed, his costars, astronauts Schirra, Eisele and Cunningham, were given most of the good comedy lines. What's more, they handled them neatly.

Agnew Urges Rededication

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Vice President-elect Spiro T. Agnew plans to spend the rest of the week clearing his desk of the paper work that has been accumulating since his campaign began, then take some time off in the Virgin Islands.

The Maryland governor told a small group of party faithful Wednesday afternoon when results of the 1968 election finally crystallized that "today is a time for celebration and rededication."

"Let all Americans share in this moment of rededication by rejecting partisanship and repudiating extremism," he said.

"The goal is not to destroy, but to create a better America. Now the time of competition is past and the time for cooperation begins. I welcome this moment when we begin the very real task of reuniting America with fresh vision under new leadership," he said.

9 Prisoners Face Charges

CINCINNATI (AP) — Nine Negro prisoners at the Cincinnati Workhouse will now appear in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court Saturday on charges of assault and battery in the beating of a white inmate Oct. 27.

Three more prisoners were recently charged in the beating of Richard W. Oney, 19, Chillicothe, who remains in critical condition at General Hospital.

Six inmates were charged earlier.

Key Biscayne To Become Nixon's 'Little White House'

KEY BISCAINE, Fla. (AP) — Only minutes had passed since he was declared the president-elect of the United States, but already Richard M. Nixon was packing his bags. He was leaving New York right away, he said, for Key Biscayne in Florida.

For 17 years, this tight little tropic island has been Nixon's favorite hideaway—the place where he always comes to celebrate the victories and contemplate the setbacks of an up-and-down political career.

And, unless all signs fail, it will for the next four years be the site of the nation's "Little White House."

During his numerous visits here, Nixon has stayed at the Key Biscayne villas, on grounds of the Key Biscayne Hotel; at the home of C. G. (Bebe) Rebozo, a long-time friend, and at the home of Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., adjacent to the Rebozo home.

It was here that Nixon came in despair in 1960, to lick the wounds of his narrow defeat by President John F. Kennedy. It was here that Kennedy sought him out and, in a dramatic meeting, accepted his congratulations.

It was here that Nixon went into seclusion to draft plans for the final two-week blitz campaign that enabled him to stay off the late rush of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. And it was here that he returned Wednesday night in the moment of his greatest triumph.

Key Biscayne is a palm-studded beauty spot where peace and solitude can be found only 15 minutes by car from the bright lights of Miami.

Akron Seeking Cash For Raises

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—City officials are seeking more revenue to avoid a large deficit within three years following approval of a charter amendment increasing the pay of police and firemen.

The amendment was approved Tuesday by a count of 52,128 to 43,504. It boosts salaries of patrolmen and firemen from $8,237 to $9,152 a year in their fourth year on the job, effective Jan. 1.

It also authorizes hiring of 120 new patrolmen in the next three years and granting a spread of 16 per cent in the top salary between higher ranks, but make no provision for financing the changes.

Arrest Pair In Slaying Of Navarro

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Two brothers from Chicago — one of them a teenager — were arrested Wednesday and booked on suspicion of murdering former silent screen star Ramon Navarro, whose nude body was found in his posh Hollywood home Oct. 31, police said.

Officers said Paul Robert Ferguson, 22, and Thomas Scott Ferguson, 17 were being held at the North Hollywood police station.

Police Lt. G. W. Lauretzen said the brothers were arrested without a struggle in Bell Gardens — Paul at a restaurant and Thomas at the home of a friend, where he was staying.

The officer said Paul Ferguson had come to Los Angeles from Chicago about five months ago and that his brother arrived about three weeks ago.

Lauretzen said the probe into the 69-year-old Navarro's bludgeoned death turned up the brothers' names "and we centered our investigation on them. After checking out the physical evidence we decided we had enough of a case to ask for indictments."

The body of Navarro was found by his male secretary in the former screen idol's $150,000 Laurel Canyon home. Officers said Navarro's head and upper body were badly beaten and that there were signs of a fierce struggle at the house.

Glass Container Prices To Rise

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Owens-Illinois, Inc., announced Wednesday it plans to increase the base price of most of the glass containers it makes from 4 to 7 per cent, effective Jan. 1.

Eben C. Jones, executive vice president, said the price hike will affect all glass containers except beer bottles, for which prices were raised Oct. 1.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite the troubles and problems facing this nation, there is reassurance in the projections of experts that enough strength lies inherent in the American economy to make solutions possible.

It is altogether another matter as to whether these resources are used constructively. But they are there, the analysts say, and they do offer hope that jobs can be provided, pollution controlled, and inferior education and such can be improved.

Now, following month on month of pre-election examination of all that is wrong with the nation, days in which the defects were so dramatized that the troubles seemed without end, a little healthy indulgence in hope is permissible.

To give some idea of how the economic projections sound, listen first to this long-range view from a publication of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce:

"Untold wealth will be the rule rather than the exception for tomorrow's families. Families presently earning $8,000 will realize annual paychecks exceeding $25,000 measured in today's dollars by the year 2000."

The important phrase is "measured in today's dollars." As surely as we have inflation today we'll have it from time to time in the next 30 years or so. Taking inflation into consideration, this $25,000 may be even higher.

It is this reshaping of the pyramid that offers so much hope for the disadvantaged. Each year America's middle bulges more; each year more Americans ascend into the relative affluence of the middle class.

This upward mobility is possible primarily because of the energetic growth of the American economy, which now produces about $350 billion worth of goods and services a year, and is growing at better than 4 per cent.

The Joint Economic Committee of Congress foresees a possible Gross National Product of $1.3 trillion by 1975 if unemployment can be brought down to 3 per cent from the present rate of a bit more than 3.5 per cent.

In a study released early last year called "U.S. Economic Growth to 1975: Potential and Problems," the committee staff stated that present growth rates would give the federal government revenues of $277 billion a year, or a 122 per cent increase in 10 years.

Government revenues would, in fact, rise more than the GNP, the report noted, because more Americans are expected by 1975 to be in the higher income tax brackets.

The projections also call for an even faster increase in the revenues of local governments, which now are hard pressed to find money for the great urban problems of jobs, education, housing, transportation and pollution control.

Assuming 3 per cent unemployment, state and local receipts would rise to $82.7 billion, an increase of 163 per cent in 10 years. Even at 4 per cent unemployment a rise of 134 per cent is possible, the study showed.

Now the problems of America won't be solved by any amount of money, but a good start can be made on the trillion-dollar job of rebuilding cities, the $25-billion job of reducing pollution and the huge job of "eliminating" poverty.

"In Africa," avers Henny Youngman, "the cannibals in particular adore Sullivan. They're convinced he's some new kind of frozen food."

Frankie Frisch, Fordham's greatest contribution to big league baseball, and Bill Klem, toughest and most deeply respected umpire in National League history, conducted a long-time feud that erupted at least four times every season. Once, when Klem called out a Cardinal runner on a close play at third, Frisch, coaching there, let out the expected shriek of protest, then clutched a hand over his heart, and collapsed on the ground. The players and the fans in the stands were panicked—but not old Bill Klem. He shoved his way through the crowd of players, glared down at the prostrate Frankie, and roared, "Frisch, you faking bum, dead or alive, you're out of the game!"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I was shocked to learn that I have a mild case of diabetes. I was asked to find out if anyone in my family has had it, but no one has. At the present time it is believed that the condition can be kept in control with diet. At the age of forty-two, with a family of small children, I am concerned particularly about whether or not I can look forward to a healthy life if I follow instructions.

Mr. D. A. G., Wisconsin Dear Mr. G.: It always comes as a shock to learn that one has any disease, especially when there have been no symptoms associated with it. Actually, in your case, you are favored and fortunate that your mild diabetic condition was uncovered so early. The ultimate aim of all health campaigns is to flush out of hiding the pre-diabetic and the early diabetic so that treatment can be started immediately and consistently. Only in this way can we prevent the complications that can arise from neglected diabetes.

I can not resist expressing one of my pet aversions to a type of health campaign that serves only to terrify rather than to teach. A recent series of television commercials aimed at uncovering the pre-diabetic and the early diabetic is startlingly frightening even to those with real emotional reserve. I find that such poorly conceived health campaign programs by diabetic associations do themselves a great injustice. Simple sanity has a far greater appeal than a Frankenstein-like terrorizing approach to "teaching" health.

If you rigidly follow the direction of your physician—the diet, the sensible weight control and the limitations of tobacco—you can be assured that you will live a perfectly serviceable existence and continue to be the emotional and physical provider for your children. It is actually a paradox that the young diabetic may well live even a longer life because of the physicians constant supervision of this and other medical conditions. I cannot help interjecting the thought that your own fears so often happen to a young person who has had a mild heart attack. When assured that fear has no rightful place in his emotions, state.

he too can live a completely productive life. My daily household chores seem to be accompanied by frequent burns. Even though they hurt I must continue with my work. I wonder if there are any ointments that can temporarily stop the pain.

Mrs. J. N., Manitoba Dear Mrs. N.: Just for the record, let me quickly assure you that there are no great psychological reasons for your burns. I hardly know how they can be avoided by people who spend so many hours as you do over a hot kitchen stove.

On many occasions I have written that application of ice or ice water is the ideal, immediate treatment for burns. Whenever possible, the hand or the part that is burned should be immersed in ice cold water to reduce the pain and the swelling that accompanies it. It is said that the immediate use of ice water tends to reduce the possibility of infection. Whether or not this is true is not nearly as important as the fact that healing seems to take place more rapidly after this treatment.

When a blister forms try to leave in the skin intact. This is nature's protective device against infection. A fine needle, sterilized with flame or alcohol, can be inserted painlessly at the edge of a blister to release the fluid and still keep the skin unbroken.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The United States has become literally a nation on wheels. Some 80 per cent of its families now own automobiles.

The next time your know-it-all neighbor starts showing off his knowledge, ask him if he can name three animals that don't have gall bladders. The odds are 999 to 1 that he won't think of the right ones—deer, elk and moose.

Your wife probably rarely has more than a couple of U.S. governors to dinner at a time. But if she should invite a group of them, here's the proper protocol: they should be ranked not by age, charm or length of time in office but by the date when their states entered the Union.

Prosperity note: For the executive who likes to keep in instant touch with business matters, there is now available a portable radio telephone he can tote in his attache case. The price? A mere $2,100—or one can be rented for $49.50 a month.

Do you suffer regularly from eyelid flutter? Psychiatric studies show this symptom is common among manic-depressive patients. In your case, however, it is probably just a sign that you suffer from insomnia and aren't getting enough sleep.

Quotable notables: "The fundamental defect of fathers is that they want their children to be a credit to them."—Bertrand Russell.

Cow juice: Every time you drink a glass of milk it gives you enough energy to walk a mile or dance an hour or climb 196 steps or play cards for 3½ hours.

Ever wonder why birds avoid eating monarch butterflies? Scientists wondered, too. Now they've found out. The bodies of the butterflies contain certain heart poisons, called cardenolides, which make them noxious and indigestible to feathered life.

Alcohol and trains don't mix safely. A study of 94 persons killed in train accidents found that 30 per cent of the drivers, and 64 per cent of the pedestrians over 15, had been drinking.

Here's why many employers prefer hiring men rather than women: the average woman of office worker sticks with the job only half as long as her male counterpart.

If you want to do something to help conserve the national water supply, take a shower instead of a tub bath. Then you'll use only 25 instead of 35 gallons of water.

Ants are among the most adaptable of nature's creatures. For example, some species develop their own antifreeze in winter. They generate alcohol which enables their systems to cope with sudden cold waves.

Worth remembering: "You are getting old if it takes you longer to rest up than it did to get tired."

It was Caleb C. Colton who observed, "True contentment does not depend on what we have. A tub was large enough for Diogenes, a world too little for Alexander."

Ohio's General Assembly Remains GOP Stronghold

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Republicans apparently held on to comfortable margins in both houses of the Ohio General Assembly in Tuesday's balloting but lost at least two incumbents in each chamber, including a former congressman who had served nine terms in the Ohio Senate.

Returns filtered slowly into the Statehouse early Wednesday as a result of closely contested national and statewide races, but the GOP claimed 51 of 99 House seats with a score to be heard from and 21 of 33 in the Senate with results from four districts missing.

In the last legislature, the GOP dominated the House 62-37 and held a 23-10 margin in the upper chamber. It appeared likely the Democrats would come within 40-55 in the House and 12-21 in the Senate when the smoke cleared. Sen. Tom V. Moorhead of Zanesville, first elected to the Senate in 1945, was the major GOP casualty in the Senate. He lost to another former congressman, Democrat Robert T. Secrest of Cambridge. The Senate clerk's office also reported, without giving vote totals, that one-term Sen. John Longworth of Salem had lost to Douglas Applegate, three-term House member from Steubenville.

Otherwise, incumbents in the upper chamber breezed to reelection, all for four-year terms. Two had no opposition. They were GOP Sens. Tennyson Guyer of Findlay and Sen. Max H. Dennis of Wilmington.

The House GOP victims were Rep. John Harvey Wels of Lancaster, defeated by Don S. Mad-dux, a 28-year-old teacher, and Rep. Henry H. Schriver of Lorain who lost to former State Sen. Donald J. Pease of Oberlin. Wels had served three terms in the House and once was mayor of Lancaster.

Free Society, Limited War

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

It is an interesting question that columnist John Roche, former White House liaison man between Lyndon Johnson and the intellectual community, has raised in the New Leader, a magazine that has lost much of its freedom-fighting tone since the days when it was edited by the intransigent anti-Communist ex-Mayor of Vladivostok, Sol Levitas. The question is: "Can a free society fight a limited war?"

Having put the question clearly before us, Mr. Roche then proceeds to beg it. In the last analysis he is reduced to saying (a) that a "flexible" limited response is the only alternative between risking a nuclear holocaust and retreating to Fortress America, and (b) that "liberals" must stop leaping up and down about Vietnam if they are not to be pushed back into the isolationism they abandoned a quarter of a century ago. These things may be true, but they do not answer the question.

Somewhat, though he has said a lot of intelligent things about the difficulties of fighting any kind of war in a tropical jungle against an enemy who is willing to sacrifice one generation in the interests of his successor, Mr. Roche doesn't see where he is heading. He circles around his question in gingerly fashion, saying that Ho Chi Minh has "hit the doctrine of limited war" at its weakest point: domestic opinion and that "American youth has a genuine grievance" since the "adult's war" has been the "young man's fight."

Right there Mr. Roche had the answer to his question, "Can a free society fight a limited war?" The answer is that you cannot fight a limited war with conscript troops unless you are willing to suppress dissent, proclaim the viciousness of the enemy, and prove to the draft-age young that the stay-at-homes are taking the war seriously instead of enjoying it as a money-making proposition. Oddly enough, I find myself in agreement with Walter Lippmann on this point of incompatibility between drafting men to fight an unpopular war and a business-as-usual attitude on the home front.

Mr. Roche flinches from the idea of "yahoo chauvinism," and approves of Lyndon Johnson's refusal to be a President "who got Americans hating." But he doesn't draw the relevant conclusion that a nation might be able to fight a limited war without yahoo yelling or the cultivation of hatred if it really and truly had decided to be a free society. In brief, let volunteers fight the war. Or, if you must phrase it that way, let mercenaries fight it.

This was the way of the Nineteenth Century, before the dread Napoleonic concept of the "nation in arms"—the "armed horde," to use Hoffman Nickerson's term—was revived for the war of 1914 in Europe. The British fought innumerable limited wars with volunteer "Tommy Atkins" backed by a volunteer navy. The French had the foreign legion; the Gurkhas were for hire; Colonel Teddy Roosevelt raised his Rough Riders for Cuba. There is no reason to believe that five hundred thousand volunteers could not have been found to stop the Communists in Vietnam. A volunteer war would not have poisoned our campuses.

The great fault of the Johnson Administration is that it never bothered to examine its premises. If Communism is wrong in South Vietnam, it is wrong everywhere. Prudentially, you can't fight Communism everywhere at once. But, having chosen its field, why did the Johnson Administration think it could draft kids to fight Communism in Asian jungles while, at the same time, it forcibly prevented free Cubans from carrying on a struggle against Castro in Cuba? Why did it ever consider for a moment that it could carry on trade with East European Communist nations that were making guns for export to North Vietnam and expect the young in U.S. universities to see any holiness to the struggle against Ho Chi Minh?

Finally, it hasn't been respectable in the U. S. for individuals to fight Communism on a voluntary basis since Joe Stalin passed to his reward in Hell. This has been the atmosphere. Well, it stands to reason that you can't conscript kids to do collectively what the regnant philosophy frowns upon individually. If a free society is to fight a limited war, it must do it with volunteers who have not been discouraged to discover the nature of the enemy for themselves.

Defiant of the ages, Ramesses II, god-king of Egypt, again sits enthroned above the waters of the Nile. The two ancient temples of Abu Simbel honoring Ramesses have been preserved in all their glory by an incredible international salvage project.

Hatlo's They'll Do It Every Time

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite the troubles and problems facing this nation, there is reassurance in the projections of experts that enough strength lies inherent in the American economy to make solutions possible.

It is altogether another matter as to whether these resources are used constructively. But they are there, the analysts say, and they do offer hope that jobs can be provided, pollution controlled, and inferior education and such can be improved.

Now, following month on month of pre-election examination of all that is wrong with the nation, days in which the defects were so dramatized that the troubles seemed without end, a little healthy indulgence in hope is permissible.

To give some idea of how the economic projections sound, listen first to this long-range view from a publication of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce:

"Untold wealth will be the rule rather than the exception for tomorrow's families. Families presently earning $8,000 will realize annual paychecks exceeding $25,000 measured in today's dollars by the year 2000."

The important phrase is "measured in today's dollars." As surely as we have inflation today we'll have it from time to time in the next 30 years or so. Taking inflation into consideration, this $25,000 may be even higher.

It is this reshaping of the pyramid that offers so much hope for the disadvantaged. Each year America's middle bulges more; each year more Americans ascend into the relative affluence of the middle class.

This upward mobility is possible primarily because of the energetic growth of the American economy, which now produces about $850 billion worth of goods and services a year, and is growing at better than 4 per cent.

The Joint Economic Committee of Congress foresees a possible Gross National Product of $1.3 trillion by 1975 if unemployment can be brought down to 3 per cent from the present rate of a bit more than 3.5 per cent.

In a study released early last year called "U.S. Economic Growth to 1975: Potential and Problems," the committee staff stated that present growth rates would give the federal government revenues of $277 billion a year, or a 122 per cent increase in 10 years.

Government revenues would, in fact, rise more than the GNP, the report noted, because more Americans are expected by 1975 to be in the higher income tax brackets.

The projections also call for an even faster increase in the revenues of local governments, which now are hard pressed to find money for the great urban problems of jobs, education, housing, transportation and pollution control.

Assuming 3 per cent unemployment, state and local receipts would rise to $82.7 billion, an increase of 163 per cent in 10 years. Even at 4 per cent unemployment a rise of 134 per cent is possible, the study showed.

Now the problems of America won't be solved by any amount of money, but a good start can be made on the trillion-dollar job of rebuilding cities, the $25-billion job of reducing pollution and the huge job of "eliminating" poverty.

Try and Stop Me

ED SULLIVAN, most successful and durable M.C. in the history of television, takes a great deal of kidding for his deadpan expression and deceptive sang-froid on the air. "In Africa," avers Henny Youngman, "the cannibals in particular adore Sullivan. They're convinced he's some new kind of frozen food."

Frankie Frisch, Fordham's greatest contribution to big league baseball, and Bill Klem, toughest and most deeply respected umpire in National League history, conducted a long-time feud that erupted at least four times every season. Once, when Klem called out a Cardinal runner on a close play at third, Frisch, coaching there, let out the expected shriek of protest, then clutched a hand over his heart, and collapsed on the ground. The players and the fans in the stands were panicked—but not Bill Klem. He shoved his way through the crowd of players, glared down at the prostrate Frankie, and roared, "Frisch, you faking bum, dead or alive, you're out of the game!"

QUICKIES: A visitor to New York discovered that the musical, "Hair," was such a hit he couldn't get a good seat at the box office. He had to patronize a scalper. The head of New York's auto license bureau received his first thank-you card in the mail the other day. It was from the husband of a wife he'd flunked.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I was shocked to learn that I have a mild case of diabetes. I was asked to find out if anyone in my family has had it, but no one has. At the present time it is believed that the condition can be kept in control with diet. At the age of forty-two, with a family of small children, I am concerned particularly about whether or not I can look forward to a healthy life if I follow instructions.

Mr. D. A. G., Wisconsin Dear Mr. G.: It always comes as a shock to learn that one has any disease, especially when there have been no symptoms associated with it. Actually, in your case, you are favored and fortunate that your mild diabetic condition was uncovered so early. The ultimate aim of all health campaigns is to flush out of hiding the pre-diabetic and the early diabetic so that treatment can be started immediately and consistently. Only in this way can we prevent the complications that can arise from neglected diabetes.

I can not resist expressing one of my pet aversions to a type of health campaign that serves only to terrify rather than to teach. A recent series of television commercials aimed at uncovering the pre-diabetic and the early diabetic is startlingly frightening even to those with real emotional reserve. I find that such poorly conceived health campaign programs by diabetic associations do themselves a great injustice. Simple sanity has a far greater appeal than a Frankenstein-like terrorizing approach to "teaching" health.

If you rigidly follow the direction of your physician—the diet, the sensible weight control and the limitations of tobacco—you can be assured that you will live a perfectly serviceable existence and continue to be the emotional and physical provider for your children. It is actually a paradox that the young diabetic may well live even a longer life because of the physicians constant supervision of this and other medical conditions. I cannot help interjecting the thought that your own fears so often happen to a young person who has had a mild heart attack. When assured that fear has no rightful place in his emotions, he too can live a completely productive life.

My daily household chores seem to be accompanied by frequent burns. Even though they hurt I must continue with my work. I wonder if there are any ointments that can temporarily stop the pain.

Mrs. J. N., Manitoba Dear Mrs. N.: Just for the record, let me quickly assure you that there are no great psychological reasons for your burns. I hardly know how they can be avoided by people who spend so many hours as you do over a hot kitchen stove.

On many occasions I have written that application of ice or ice water is the ideal, immediate treatment for burns. Whenever possible, the hand or the part that is burned should be immersed in ice cold water to reduce the pain and the swelling that accompanies it. It is said that the immediate use of ice water tends to reduce the possibility of infection. Whether or not this is true is not nearly as important as the fact that healing seems to take place more rapidly after this treatment.

When a blister forms try to leave in the skin intact. This is nature's protective device against infection. A fine needle, sterilized with flame or alcohol, can be inserted painlessly at the edge of a blister to release the fluid and still keep the skin unbroken.

Don't force alcohol down the throat of an unconscious person.

Obliging Officer ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP) — Police officer John Caraway arrested a man in front of an Alamogordo bar recently, because the man called the police department and requested an officer. The police report said when Caraway arrived at the scene the man "wanted to know if he was drunk enough to qualify for jail" and, if so, would the officer jail him. Caraway said, "He was and I did."

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The United States has become literally a nation on wheels. Some 80 per cent of its families now own automobiles.

The next time your know-it-all neighbor starts showing off his knowledge, ask him if he can name three animals that don't have gall bladders. The odds are 999 to 1 that he won't think of the right ones—deer, elk and moose.

Your wife probably rarely has more than a couple of U.S. governors to dinner at a time. But if she should invite a group of them, here's the proper protocol: they should be ranked not by age, charm or length of time in office but by the date when their states entered the Union.

Prosperity note: For the executive who likes to keep in instant touch with business matters, there is now available a portable radio telephone he can tote in his attache case. The price? A mere $2,160—or one can be rented for $49.50 a month.

Do you suffer regularly from eyelid flutter? Psychiatric studies show this symptom is common among manic-depressive patients. In your case, however, it is probably just a sign that you suffer from insomnia and aren't getting enough sleep.

Quotable notables: "The fundamental defect of fathers is that they want their children to be a credit to them."—Bertrand Russell.

Cow juice: Every time you drink a glass of milk it gives you enough energy to walk a mile or dance an hour or climb 196 steps or play cards for 3½ hours.

Ever wonder why birds avoid eating monarch butterflies? Scientists wondered, too. Now they've found out. The bodies of the butterflies contain certain heart poisons, called cardenolides, which make them noxious and indigestible to feathered life.

Alcohol and trains don't mix safely. A study of 94 persons killed in train accidents found that 30 per cent of the drivers, and 64 per cent of the pedestrians over 15, had been drinking.

Here's why many employers prefer hiring men rather than women: the average woman of office worker sticks with the job only half as long as her male counterpart.

If you want to do something to help conserve the national water supply, take a shower instead of a tub bath. Then you'll use only 25 instead of 35 gallons of water.

Ants are among the most adaptable of nature's creatures. For example, some species develop their own antifreeze in winter. They generate alcohol which enables their systems to cope with sudden cold waves.

Worth remembering: "You are getting old if it takes you longer to rest up than it did to get tired."

It was Caleb C. Colton who observed, "True contentment does not depend on what we have. A tub was large enough for Diogenes, a world too little for Alexander."

Ohio's General Assembly Remains GOP Stronghold

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Republicans apparently held on to comfortable margins in both houses of the Ohio General Assembly in Tuesday's balloting but lost at least two incumbents in each chamber, including a former congressman who had served nine terms in the Ohio Senate.

Returns filtered slowly into the Statehouse early Wednesday as a result of closely contested national and statewide races, but the GOP claimed 51 of 99 House seats with a score to be heard from and 21 of 33 in the Senate with results from four districts missing.

In the last legislature, the GOP dominated the House 62-37 and held a 23-10 margin in the upper chamber. It appeared likely the Democrats would come within 40-55 in the House and 12-21 in the Senate when the smoke cleared.

Sen. Tom V. Moorhead of Zanesville, first elected to the Senate in 1945, was the major GOP casualty in the Senate. He lost to another former congressman, Democrat Robert T. Secrest of Cambridge. The Senate clerk's office also reported, without giving vote totals, that one-term Sen. John Longworth of Salem had lost to Douglas Applegate, three-term House member from Steubenville.

Otherwise, incumbents in the upper chamber breezed to reelection, all for four-year terms. Two had no opposition. They were GOP Sens. Tennyson Guyer of Findlay and Sen. Max H. Dennis of Wilmington.

The House GOP victims were Rep. John Harvey Weis of Lancaster, defeated by Don S. Mad-dux, a 28-year-old teacher, and Rep. Henry H. Schriver of Lorain who lost to former State Sen. Donald J. Pease of Oberlin. Weis had served three terms in the House and once was mayor of Lancaster.

Ohio Winners For Congress Are Listed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Here is a list of Ohio Congressmen elected in Tuesday's balloting: (X denotes incumbent)

Free Society, Limited War

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

It is an interesting question that columnist John Roche, former White House liaison man between Lyndon Johnson and the intellectual community, has raised in the New Leader, a magazine that has lost much of its freedom-fighting tone since the days when it was edited by the intransigently anti-Communist ex-Mayor of Vladivostok, Sol Levitas. The question is: "Can a free society fight a limited war?"

Having put the question clearly before us, Mr. Roche then proceeds to beg it. In the last analysis he is reduced to saying (a) that a "flexible" limited response is the only alternative between risking a nuclear holocaust and retreating to Fortress America, and (b) that "liberals" must stop leaping up and down about Vietnam if they are not to be pushed back into the isolationism they abandoned a quarter of a century ago. These things may be true, but they do not answer the question.

Somewhat, though he has said a lot of intelligent things about the difficulties of fighting any kind of war in a tropical jungle against an enemy who is willing to sacrifice one generation in the interests of his successor, Mr. Roche doesn't see where he is heading. He circles around his question in gingerly fashion, saying that Ho Chi Minh has "hit the doctrine of limited war at its weakest point: domestic opinion" and that "American youth has a genuine grievance" since the "adult's war" has been the "young man's fight."

Right there Mr. Roche had the answer to his question, "Can a free society fight a limited war?" The answer is, why did the Johnson Administration think it could draft kids to fight Communism in Asian jungles while, at the same time, it forcibly prevented free Cubans from carrying on a struggle against Castro in Cuba? Why did it ever consider for a moment that it could carry on trade with East European Communist nations that were making guns for export to North Vietnam and expect the young in U.S. universities to see any holiness in the struggle against Ho Chi Minh?

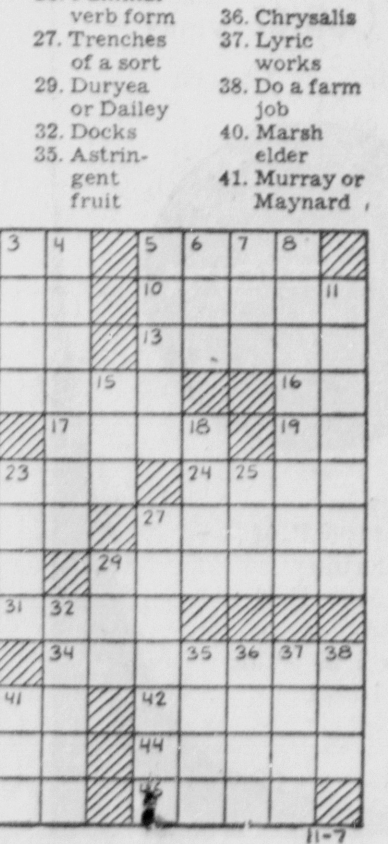

Finally, it hasn't been respectable in the U. S. for individuals to fight Communism on a voluntary basis since Joe Stalin passed to his reward in Hell. This has been the atmosphere. Well, it stands to reason that you can't conscript kids to do collectively what the regnant philosophy frowns upon individually. If a free society is to fight a limited war, it must do it with volunteers who have not been discouraged to discover the nature of the enemy for themselves.

Defiant of the ages, Ramesses II, god-king of Egypt, again sits enthroned above the waters of the Nile. The two ancient temples of Abu Simbel honoring Ramesses have been preserved in all their glory by an incredible international salvage project.

Something To Think About . . . Need For Perseverance

By JEAN CRIST

Perseverance, the ability to continue striving toward a purpose despite all difficulties, is a quality of character I have always admired and respected in those people who show it by the way they live.

It is one of those commendable traits we all would like to have but many of us lack the discipline it takes to achieve it. Admittedly, some people seem to be born with the ability to stay with a project or an idea regardless of the hardships involved or the opinions of others. Many more attain it by a hard fought, day-by-day battle to see the thing through. But regardless of whether it is natural to an individual or it is something they do through determined effort, once a person has followed through on a few difficult endeavors and reached their goal, mainly through their own perseverance, they experience a realization that the goal they have sought has become secondary to the victory over self they have achieved, which is immeasurable in its value.

Ralph Waldo Emerson's comments concerning perseverance are noteworthy. He states, "The power of persistence, of enduring defeat and of gaining victory by defeats, is one of these forces which never loses its charm. The power of a man increases steadily by continuance in one direction. He becomes acquainted with the resistances, and with his own tools; increases his skill and strength and learns the favorable moments and favorable accidents. He is his own apprentice, and more time gives a great addition of power, just as a falling body acquires momentum with every foot of the fall. How we prize a good continuer!"

Classic examples of perseverance which come to mind are those of Helen Keller, born without hearing and sight, who not only learned to read, write and talk but graduated cum laude from Radcliffe College. Her teacher, Annie Sullivan, who with the ultimate in tenacity and patience, never admitted defeat and went on to teach what was considered to be the most unteachable type of person.

We remember the record of Abraham Lincoln. He lost his job in 1832, was defeated for legislature in 1832, failed in business in 1833, was elected to legislature in 1834, his sweetheart died in 1835, he had a nervous breakdown in 1836, he was defeated for Speaker in 1838, he was defeated for nomination for Congress in 1843, he was elected to Congress in 1846, he lost renomination in 1848, he was rejected for land officer in 1849, he was defeated for Senate in 1854, he was defeated for nomination for Vice President in 1856, was again defeated for Senate in 1858, but despite all these defeats went on to be elected President in 1860. Were it not for his perseverance the greatness of this man might never have been known.

These figures represent the personification of the quality of perseverance in its highest degree. These are exceptional people and although we feel we could never attain the degree of perseverance these people did they serve as examples for us. Because we know their struggles and accomplishments they help us to get a glimpse of the possibilities that lie within us all. And most of all, their example can give us that extra measure of determination that is often needed to finish the race, at a time when the effort seems too much to ask of oneself and too much to give of oneself. At these periods which occur for each of us many times in our lives people like Helen Keller, Annie Sullivan and Abraham Lincoln serve as a beacon showing the way on a dark night.

If we could but convince those of our youth of today who are so inclined to "cop out and drop out" that these should be the people they should emulate instead of those whose names are flashed in the headlines in notoriety, leaving nothing to society worth remembering. By doing this we could leave a priceless legacy to those who will go on after us which would enable them to face the difficulties of the future with a dogged persistence. Although it would not give them the ability to win every struggle with the world, they would most assuredly win every struggle with themselves because of the knowledge that they have not given up in the biggest struggle of all, life itself.

At these periods which occur for each of us many times in our lives people like Helen Keller, Annie Sullivan and Abraham Lincoln serve as a beacon showing the way on a dark night.

If we could but convince those of our youth of today who are so inclined to "cop out and drop out" that these should be the people they should emulate instead of those whose names are flashed in the headlines in notoriety, leaving nothing to society worth remembering. By doing this we could leave a priceless legacy to those who will go on after us which would enable them to face the difficulties of the future with a dogged persistence. Although it would not give them the ability to win every struggle with the world, they would most assuredly win every struggle with themselves because of the knowledge that they have not given up in the biggest struggle of all, life itself.

See Schedule "A" below to pay the debts and costs of administration of the Estate of said Paul E. Barthelmas, Deceased, to determine the extent, if any, of the interest of Glenn Miller in and to said real estate, to determine, adjust and protect the rights, interests, and liens of all parties and for such other and further relief as the Court may determine.

The said Ellen J. Miller and Glenn Miller are required to answer the said petition by December 6, 1963, or judgment by default will be taken against them.

ELIZA MAE BARTHELMAS, Administratrix of the Estate of Paul E. Barthelmas, Deceased, Plaintiff.

STEPHEN E. AUCH, Attorney for Plaintiff.

Schedule "A" Situated in the County of Pickaway, in the State of Ohio and in the Townships of Perry and Deercreek, consisting of 3 tracts, and bounded and described as follows: TRACT NO. 1: Being a part of Valentine Kinder's Survey and known as Bar and Zollers Tract No. 3714; Beginning at a stone, Southwest corner to George Betts land and Southeast corner of the tract known as a line of Original and Ballis Hancock's land North 75 deg. 30 min. West 160 poles to a stone in the Williamsport road 7 poles and 5 links from a hickory corner standing North 75 deg. 30 min. West; thence North 15 deg. East 60 poles to a stake and 3 hickories and a black ash; thence 75 deg. 30 min. East 80 poles to a stake and stone in the East line of the original tract and in said Betts West line; thence with the same about 15 deg. West 96 poles to the beginning, containing 78 acres of land, more or less.

TRACT NO. 2: Situated in the same Townships, County and State as above, described as follows: Beginning at a stake and 3 hickories and Black ash corner to Henry Corkwell; thence with his line South 76 1/4 deg. East 20 chains to a stone; thence North 14-1/2 deg. East 9 chains to a stone; thence South 76-1/4 deg. East 20-6 chains to a stone in the Easterly line of Survey No. 3417; thence with said line North 14 deg. East 3-27 chains to a stone; thence North 73 deg. 35 min. West 40 chains to a stone; thence South 15 deg. West 14-80 chains to the place of beginning, containing 40 acres and 40 poles of land, more or less, being a part of Survey No. 3417.

TRACT NO. 3: Situated in the same County, State and Townships; Beginning on the North side of the road running from Williamsport to Waterloo and bounded by lands of George Betts on the East, thence running North to lands of Byliss Hancock to corner of said land; thence running with the line of said Hancock and Benjamin Corkwell to a black oak corner between Jesse Hays and said Bayliss Hancock; thence running back to the beginning containing 4 acres of land, more or less.

Being the same premises conveyed by A. T. Vincent and Bethel Vincent, his wife, and Lucy Vincent, unmarried, to Jacob Barthelmas and Amelia A. Barthelmas, by deed dated June 17, 1930 and recorded in Deed Record 112, page 205, Pickaway County, Deed Records, Oct. 18, 25; Nov. 1, 7, 14, 21 in 1854, he was defeated for nomination for Vice President in 1856, was again defeated for Senate in 1858, but despite all these defeats went on to be elected President in 1860. Were it not for his perseverance the greatness of this man might never have been known.

These figures represent the personification of the quality of perseverance in its highest degree. These are exceptional people and although we feel we could never attain the degree of perseverance these people did they serve as examples for us. Because we know their struggles and accomplishments they help us to get a glimpse of the possibilities that lie within us all. And most of all, their example can give us that extra measure of determination that is often needed to finish the race, at a time when the effort seems too much to ask of oneself and too much to give of oneself. At these periods which occur for each of us many times in our lives people like Helen Keller, Annie Sullivan and Abraham Lincoln serve as a beacon showing the way on a dark night.

If we could but convince those of our youth of today who are so inclined to "cop out and drop out" that these should be the people they should emulate instead of those whose names are flashed in the headlines in notoriety, leaving nothing to society worth remembering. By doing this we could leave a priceless legacy to those who will go on after us which would enable them to face the difficulties of the future with a dogged persistence. Something To Think About . . . Need For Perseverance

Perseverance, the ability to continue striving toward a purpose despite all difficulties, is a quality of character I have always admired and respected in those people who show it by the way they live.

It is one of those commendable traits we all would like to have but many of us lack the discipline it takes to achieve it. Admittedly, some people seem to be born with the ability to stay with a project or an idea regardless of the hardships involved or the opinions of others. Many more attain it by a hard fought, day-by-day battle to see the thing through. But regardless of whether it is natural to an individual or it is something they do through determined effort, once a person has followed through on a few difficult endeavors and reached their goal, mainly through their own perseverance, they experience a realization that the goal they have sought has become secondary to the victory over self they have achieved, which is immeasurable in its value.

Ralph Waldo Emerson's comments concerning perseverance are noteworthy. He states, "The power of persistence, of enduring defeat and of gaining victory by defeats, is one of these forces which never loses its charm. The power of a man increases steadily by continuance in one direction. He becomes acquainted with the resistances, and with his own tools; increases his skill and strength and learns the favorable moments and favorable accidents. He is his own apprentice, and more time gives a great addition of power, just as a falling body acquires momentum with every foot of the fall. How we prize a good continuer!"

Classic examples of perseverance which come to mind are those of Helen Keller, born without hearing and sight, who not only learned to read, write and talk but graduated cum laude from Radcliffe College. Her teacher, Annie Sullivan, who with the ultimate in tenacity and patience, never admitted defeat and went on to teach what was considered to be the most unteachable type of person.

We remember the record of Abraham Lincoln. He lost his job in 1832, was defeated for legislature in 1832, failed in business in 1833, was elected to legislature in 1834, his sweetheart died in 1835, he had a nervous breakdown in 1836, he was defeated for Speaker in 1838, he was defeated for nomination for Congress in 1843, he was elected to Congress in 1846, he lost re-nomination in 1848, he was rejected for land officer in 1849, he was defeated for Senate in 1854, he was defeated for nomination for Vice President in 1856, was again defeated for Senate in 1858, but despite all these defeats went on to be elected President in 1860. Were it not for his perseverance the greatness of this man might never have been known.

These figures represent the personification of the quality of perseverance in its highest degree. These are exceptional people and although we feel we could never attain the degree of perseverance these people did they serve as examples for us. Because we know their struggles and accomplishments they help us to get a glimpse of the possibilities that lie within us all. And most of all, their example can give us that extra measure of determination that is often needed to finish the race, at a time when the effort seems too much to ask of oneself. At these periods which occur for each of us many times in our lives people like Helen Keller, Annie Sullivan and Abraham Lincoln serve as a beacon showing the way on a dark night.

If we could but convince those of our youth of today who are so inclined to "cop out and drop out" that these should be the people they should emulate instead of those whose names are flashed in the headlines in notoriety, leaving nothing to society worth remembering. By doing this we could leave a priceless legacy to those who will go on after us which would enable them to face the difficulties of the future with a dogged persistence. Although it would not give them the ability to win every struggle with the world, they would most assuredly win every struggle with themselves because of the knowledge that they have not given up in the biggest struggle of all, life itself.

Salem WCTU Hears Reports Of Convention

The Salem WCTU met at the Salem United Methodist Church on Tuesday afternoon at 1:30.

The meeting opened by a Litany on words about the Thanksgiving season, the theme, "United Gratefulness," presented by Mrs. Paul Hawkins Sr., president, was followed by a poem, "God Is In His Holy Temple."

The devotional theme, "A Charge To Keep" with scripture, meditation and prayer was given by Mrs. Pearl Patrick.

A poster, entitled "Alcohol, Its Effect On the Brain" was reviewed, along with other interesting topics for discussion.

During the month of November special recognition is given to the men and all other honorary members.

Mrs. Hawkins reported on the highlights of the State Convention, Oct. 23-25, at the Southern Hotel, Columbus. She was proud to announce that Walnut Twp., Commercial Point and Salem Union had gained in membership which entitled them to a fruitful union certificate.

For the third year, Salem has received awards for Century Builders and Standard of Excellence Award.

Highlight of Pickaway County for the year was the grand reception for YTC Camp members at Circleville Bible College and for Youth Night at Stoutsville Camp.

The meeting was closed with benediction.

Refreshments were served from a table decorated in fall colors by the hostesses, Mrs. Merle McAfee and Mrs. Hawkins.

Spanish Student Talks At Assembly

By DEBBIE HOFFHINES

During activity period Thursday, Oct. 31, an assembly was held in the auditorium conducted by the Spanish Club.

During the assembly, Rosanna Galles, the exchange student from Lima, Peru, presented Mr. Snider, principal, with a small flag of Peru. Rita Scheibeck, who visited Colombia for ten weeks last summer, presented Miss Gard with a large flag from Colombia.

Rita also narrated slides she had taken in Colombia. For the final portion of the assembly, Harold Hewitt from the YMCA, gave a brief speech on the possibility of organizing a YMCA Club at Teays Valley. An organizational meeting was scheduled for Nov. 7.

Head of Science and Mathematics at Teays Valley High School. After serving four years in this position, he resigned to accept a position with Ross Laboratories in Columbus, Ohio. After serving one year as a chemist in quality control with this company, he returned last year to Teays Valley High School as a teacher of physics and mathematics and part-time administrative assistant. This year he accepted the position as principal of Teays Valley.

He is married and has three sons, Michael, Keith, and Steven. He and his family reside near Lithopolis in Fairfield County.

Future Teachers Hold Meeting

The Teays Valley Chapter of Future Teachers of America met Oct. 29, for its second meeting.

Bob Stone, president, called the meeting to order. Secretary Becky Hoffman took the roll, and Warren Diehl gave the treasurer's report. Fund raising for AFS was discussed.

After the meeting Sandy Scothorn told the club of her visit to Lancaster High School Oct. 12 for the State FTA Convention. Gail Trecker, Warren Diehl, Becky Hoffman, and Vernon Bolender also attended.

Next, some of the senior members gave reports on colleges. Refreshments followed.

Central State Gets $200,000 Grant

Department Stores Set Sunday Work

CINCINNATI (AP) — Four major Cincinnati department stores now have their suburban stores open on Sundays. Mabley & Carew revealed Wednesday that its two suburban branches will be open Sundays from noon until 6 p. m. starting Nov. 24, and Shillito's, Pogue's and McAlpins had already announced Sunday openings.

How the Weather Looks

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Clouds and rain were general early today and temperatures ranged from the lower 40s in northwest Ohio to the lower 50s south.

A low pressure area developed in the southwest corner of the state during the night and will move slowly east to northeast today into west central Pennsylvania this evening.

Cold air will spread east into Ohio the next few days as the low moves off. Rain will become mixed with snow as the colder air feeds in.

Then, as the low continues away from the area the mixed rain and snow will end from the west but be replaced at least over northern counties Friday night and Saturday by snow flurries.

FORECASTS

OHIO—Cloudy today and tonight with rain, possibly mixed with snow north late tonight. High today in the 40s north and the upper 40s to lower 50s south. Low tonight in the 30s north and central and the lower 40s extreme south. Mostly cloudy, windy and colder Friday with rain ending southwest during the day but becoming mixed with snow elsewhere.

SOUTHWEST OHIO — Cloudy and cool with intermittent rain today and tonight. High today upper 40s to lower 50s. Low tonight 36-42. Mostly cloudy and

Income Tax Nixed

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — Mayor Leonard P. Reichlin says it has not been decided whether the proposed one per cent city income tax here will be resubmitted to the voters. The tax, which would have raised about $1.6 million a year, was defeated Tuesday by an unofficial count of 8,646 to 7,104.

cooler Friday with rain ending during the day.

CENTRAL, EAST CENTRAL, SOUTHEAST OHIO — Cloudy and cool today and tonight with intermittent rain. High today upper 40s to lower 50s. Low tonight 37-44. Mostly cloudy, windy and cooler Friday with intermittent rain possibly mixed with snow late in the day.

By JOHN BAUSMAN
Associated Press Writer
YEREVAN, U.S.S.R., (AP) — The Armenian from Detroit marveled at the thriving city of Yerevan:

"What they have done here is amazing. You can't imagine how backward this country was 50 years ago."

He was one of several hundred American Armenians who had come to this capital of Soviet Armenia to celebrate the city's 2,750th anniversary.

Although old in history, the city they saw is new. Except for excavation of the ancient fortress of Yeribunni and a few old churches, most of the city was built in the past 44 years. Soviet control of Armenia, a hot, dry region bordering on Turkey and Iran, was established in 1920. When Yerevan's building program began in 1924, it had a population of 30,000. Today it has nearly 700,000.

Much of the old town was torn down to make room for parks and wide boulevards. A few blocks of the old city still stand in sharp contrast to the modern structures.

Showpiece of new Yerevan is Lenin Square, a vast paved area used for parades and public ceremonies. At one end a statue of Lenin faces an ornamental fountain on the other side. All around the square are buildings of uniform design, decorated with arches, columns and stone carvings.

"These are traditional Armenian architectural designs, adapted to modern buildings. Nowhere in the world will you find such a harmonious square," a proud resident who used to live in New York commented.

He was waiting in the lobby of the main tourist hotel for friends visiting from the States. A retired sign painter, he had come to Yerevan to live four years ago, one of nearly 200,000

Armenians repatriated to this smallest republic of the Soviet Union.

"I am happy here," he observed. "These are my people. He had left Armenia in 1920 and after four years in Cairo went on to the United States, part of a mass emigration of Armenians escaping poverty and persecution by the Turks.

While professing contentment in Soviet Armenia, the man obviously enjoyed the visitors from the United States. "It will be a sad day for me when they go home," he said.

And four years of life in the Soviet Union had taught him caution. When asked his name he smiled and said, "Does it matter? Just say I am a friend against the United States."

Even some tourists, especially those with relatives here, declined to be quoted by name. But not Mrs. C. L. Livon of San Francisco.

"I have no close relatives here," she said. "They all left or were killed years ago. My friends back home said I was crazy, but I'm very happy I came on this trip. Yerevan is a beautiful city. But I have no intention of living here. I'm 200 per cent American." Many of the Armenians repatriated here in the immediate postwar years regretted their move. Disillusioned with the Stalinist communism of the time, they fought long bureaucratic battles to get out of the country and were glad to go even when it meant leaving behind the property and investment funds they had brought with them.

Some are still trying to get out; they bombard Soviet authorities and the American Embassy in Moscow with letters seeking exit permission.

Arrest Voter For Trespassing

DETROIT (AP) — A man accused of remaining in a voting booth more than an hour while others waited in line was arrested on a trespassing charge.

Police said Albin Wodzinski, 43, was among the first to enter a booth in his precinct, and that after he'd spent 50 minutes at the machine, election workers requested that he hurry.

A police officer was summoned and read Wodzinski a state law setting two minutes as the time limit for voting, except when election officials allow more time. He was arrested when he did not come out.

Viking Kitchen Carpet is for women who don't believe in kitchen carpet.
Because it works. Come in and let us prove it!

Come watch us smear oil over it. Spill grapejuice on it. Scrub it with a stiff wire brush. Put a lighted cigarette out on it. Prove to you that Viking Kitchen Carpet can take all the actions and accidents in the kitchen (and nursery, playroom, basement, dining room!) and come up looking like new.

And Viking is carpet — the Real Thing. Not felt, not pressed fiber, not grass — but carpet! Beautiful, warm, cushiony, sop-up noise, non-skid carpet. Engineered to go where carpet never could before...to take all the dirty work out of keeping up your floors. No more waxing, buffing or de-waxing. Just a light vacuuming, an occasional sponging, and that's it!

This is the one that takes all the upkeep out of housekeeping. Hard to believe? Come see for yourself!

Viking Kitchen Carpet is made of super-dense nylon, woven super tight, and permanently bonded to a thick undercushion of B. F. Goodrich natural sponge (not foam!) rubber.

"Explorer" — a Danish-inspired pattern in black/white; aqua/avocado; amber/gold; brown/russet; cardinal/flame.

Rapid Transit Projects Not Off Ground

By JACK MILLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The idea seems simple: Set aside a freeway lane for buses only; then whisk commuters nonstop at high speeds between the suburbs and downtown.

Unfortunately, say the government's transportation experts, it has turned out to be a terrible complicated concept. Since federal officials started pushing the idea more than a year ago—and offering federal funds for much of the cost—not a single city has yet put it into effect.

The main obstacle is that other motorists jammed up bumper to bumper on a freeway are not expected to look kindly upon a bus-only lane that doesn't have a bus going by every minute, or perhaps every 30 seconds.

Attracting that many bus riders has proved an enormous task. And the buses cannot take full advantage of their exclusive freeway lane if they have to wait in the frequently long lineups of vehicles to use entrance and exit ramps. So to make the concept most effective, exclusive ramps have to be built for the buses.

Finally, the experts say, people do not want to take a bus to work in the city unless they can get adequate public transportation once they're there. And few cities have excellent systems to move people around downtown.

The express-bus impasse typifies the trouble officials have found in persuading people to leave their cars—an effort they say must succeed if the cities are to be saved from congestion.

"We're beginning to see that you have to look at the whole city as a system," says Paul Sitton, newly named director of the Department of Transportation's Urban Mass Transportation Administration.

Sitton, whose division this year was transferred from the Department of Housing and Urban Development, says one of the next steps will have to be development of whole new networks.

works to transport people around the centers of cities.

He foresees transfer centers on the edges of the downtown areas, where people would leave their cars or disembark from buses or trains. Then they would transfer to one of several modes of travel such as mini-rails, moving sidewalks or individually operated network cabs that would carry one or two people on guideways above street levels.

Pedestrians would have walkways separated from other vehicles. Trucks would operate on another level, preferably underground.

Sitton says such systems would be especially feasible in such cities with well-defined areas, such as Dallas, Denver, St. Louis, Atlanta, Seattle, San Francisco, Pittsburgh and Minneapolis and St. Paul.

It would take about 10 years to demonstrate such systems and prepare them for broad use, according to a recent federal research study. The development cost was put at $110 million.

The 18-month study has provided what federal officials call the first clear picture of what can be done about the nation's urban transportation mess.

The next step, says Sitton, is to "focus public attention on the fact that there are solutions."

H. W. Merritt, director of research for the transit agency, says most people endure the horrors of city travel in relative silence because they don't know what could be done. But he says the average commuter is beginning to realize that more freeways alone aren't going to solve the problem.

Masheter Hits Planned U.S. Highway Rules

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Proposed new federal highway regulations would take road-building out of the hands of the qualified and place it into the hands of the unqualified, Ohio Highway Director P. E. Masheter charged Wednesday.

Addressing the Ohio Sand and Gravel Association meeting here, Masheter said the new standards would take from state officials the right of decisions and place it into the hand of one federal official.

He said the U.S. Department of Transportation is trying to establish road - building standards "to serve bureaucracy, not people."

Proposed regulations published recently in the Federal Register, Masheter said, call for separate public hearings on corridor and design of highway projects instead of one hearing as required by Ohio law. He said the regulations become effective Nov. 22 unless unified efforts are made to have them nullified.

"Not only would interested persons be able to question whether roads should be built or even widened, the regulations also would require highway departments to consider killing a road project in favor of some other form of transportation, presumably rapid rail transit," he said.

Masheter said opponents of state decisions to proceed with a road project could automatically delay it by appealing to a federal highway administrator.

He said the proposal was an attempt by the Transportation Department to exceed authority granted by the Federal Highway Act of 1968.

School Tax Levy Renewals Do OK; New Issues Hurt

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More than 80 per cent of the school tax levy requests on Tuesday's Ohio election ballots were approved, but voters took a tougher stand on proposals for new school buildings, passing only about half of them.

According to an Ohio Education Association survey, 386 out of 419 bond issues and levies passed. All 173 levy renewals received approval, as did 43 of 47 combination renewal and additional levies.

In districts where there were both bond and levy issues on the ballot, voters in 15 of 27 districts turned down the bond issue but passed the levy. In only one case, suburban Cincinnati's Forest Hills, did both the bond issue and levy fail.

Rhodes Must Fill Saxbe Office

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — With U.S. Sen.-elect William B. Saxbe headed for Washington in January, Gov. James A. Rhodes must decide who will be the next state attorney general.

Two years remain on the term Saxbe won in 1966 and Rhodes, by law, is required to appoint a successor.

Saxbe said Wednesday his personal choice was Gerald A. Donahue, his campaign manager, but added he would not make a recommendation unless asked by Rhodes.

Other speculation has centered on State Treasurer John D. Herbert and House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess.

Saxbe said Wednesday he felt Kurfess was "needed" in the Ohio General Assembly. He did not mention Herbert, although the treasurer's name has been heard in the Saxbe camp and in top GOP circles.

All three men are attorneys, a constitutional requirement for the $25,000-a-year post as the state's chief legal officer, and all are Republicans, a political necessity for appointment by a Republican governor. In addition, all are relatively young at 38.

Herbert, two-term treasurer and son of a former governor, was an assistant attorney general during Saxbe's first term from 1957 to 1959.

Mentioned as a gubernatorial prospect for 1970, Herbert could benefit from the almost daily publicity of the attorney general's office. Although important, his present post does not attract as much public exposure.

Appointment of Herbert would give Rhodes a second job to fill, the treasurer's office. Handing out two political plums might enhance the governor's position as a potential U.S. Senate candidate in 1970.

Kurfess, of Bowling Green, was named speaker two years ago at age 36. He is one of the youngest legislators in history to head a majority party in the Ohio House.

He has represented the 4th District since 1956 and was elected the first time while a law student at Ohio State.

Donahue, former state tax commissioner, has never held elective office. However, he is familiar with the attorney general's office, having served five years as Saxbe's first assistant.

Also, Donahue is among

Saxbe's closest friends. He took leave of his Columbus law practice last February to direct the successful campaign.

Another plus factor for Donahue is his service as state tax commissioner. In what many saw as a personal favor to Rhodes, Donahue left Saxbe's staff to head the state department of taxation, an agency he is credited with improving during his one-year tenure.

Saxbe is expected to delay his resignation as attorney general until shortly before he is sworn in next Jan. 20 as Ohio's junior senator.

Masheter Hits Planned U.S. Highway Rules

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Proposed new federal highway regulations would take road-building out of the hands of the qualified and place it into the hands of the unqualified, Ohio Highway Director P. E. Masheter charged Wednesday.

Addressing the Ohio Sand and Gravel Association meeting here, Masheter said the new standards would take from state officials the right of decisions and place it into the hand of one federal official.

He said the U.S. Department of Transportation is trying to establish road-building standards "to serve bureaucracy, not people."

Proposed regulations published recently in the Federal Register, Masheter said, call for separate public hearings on corridor and design of highway projects instead of one hearing as required by Ohio law. He said the regulations become effective Nov. 22 unless unified efforts are made to have them nullified.

"Not only would interested persons be able to question whether roads should be built or even widened, the regulations also would require highway departments to consider killing a road project in favor of some other form of transportation, presumably rapid rail transit," he said.

Masheter said opponents of state decisions to proceed with a road project could automatically delay it by appealing to a federal highway administrator.

He said the proposal was an attempt by the Transportation Department to exceed authority granted by the Federal Highway Act of 1968.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marine Corps 1st Lt. John C. White III of Dayton, Ohio, has been killed in action in Vietnam, the Defense Department reported Wednesday.

School Tax Levy Renewals Do OK; New Issues Hurt

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More than 80 per cent of the school tax levy requests on Tuesday's Ohio election ballots were approved, but voters took a tougher stand on proposals for new school buildings, passing only about half of them.

According to an Ohio Education Association survey, 386 out of 419 bond issues and levies passed. All 173 levy renewals received approval, as did 43 of 47 combination renewal and additional levies.

In districts where there were both bond and levy issues on the ballot, voters in 15 of 27 districts turned down the bond issue but passed the levy. In only one case, suburban Cincinnati's Forest Hills, did both the bond issue and levy fail.

Of the 15 largest cities, issues failed in Cincinnati, a 3.7-mill additional levy; Lorain, a $9.8 million bond issue; Parma, a 5.5-mill additional levy; Warren, a $6.4 million bond issue, and Youngstown, a 12-mill levy.

As a result of issues failing, schools in Youngstown and the C. R. Coblentz District in Preble County will close later this month until the first of the year due to lack of funds.

Marietta voters rejected a combination new and renewal levy totaling 24.3 mills, dropping it below the 17.5-mill state minimum and placing it in jeopardy of losing state funds.

But Perry Local voters in Lake County approved a 10-mill levy, leading to the probability that schools which closed Oct. 15 will reopen before Nov. 18.

The largest school levy in Ohio was in Hamilton Local District of Franklin County, where a 13-mill additional levy failed. Streetsboro of Portage County had the largest new levy that passed, 10.4 mills.

Cleveland had the largest bond issue, and voters there approved a request for $50 million worth of school facilities along with a 5.8-mill additional levy for school operation and a 16.1 mill levy renewal.

Rhodes Must Fill Saxbe Office

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — With U.S. Sen.-elect William B. Saxbe headed for Washington in January, Gov. James A. Rhodes must decide who will be the next state attorney general. Two years remain on the term Saxbe won in 1966 and Rhodes, by law, is required to appoint a successor.

Saxbe said Wednesday his personal choice was Gerald A. Donahue, his campaign manager, but added he would not make a recommendation unless asked by Rhodes.

Other speculation has centered on State Treasurer John D. Herbert and House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess.

Saxbe said Wednesday he felt Kurfess was "needed" in the Ohio General Assembly. He did not mention Herbert, although the treasurer's name has been heard in the Saxbe camp and in top GOP circles.

All three men are attorneys, a constitutional requirement for the $25,000-a-year post as the state's chief legal officer, and all are Republicans, a political necessity for appointment by a Republican governor. In addition, all are relatively young at 38.

Herbert, two-term treasurer and son of a former governor, was an assistant attorney general during Saxbe's first term from 1957 to 1959.

Mentioned as a gubernatorial prospect for 1970, Herbert could benefit from the almost daily publicity of the attorney general's office. Although important, his present post does not attract as much public exposure.

Appointment of Herbert would give Rhodes a second job to fill, the treasurer's office. Handing out two political plums might enhance the governor's position as a potential U.S. Senate candidate in 1970.

Kurfess, of Bowling Green, was named speaker two years ago at age 36. He is one of the youngest legislators in history to head a majority party in the Ohio House.

He has represented the 4th District since 1956 and was elected the first time while a law student at Ohio State.

Donahue, former state tax commissioner, has never held elective office. However, he is familiar with the attorney general's office, having served five years as Saxbe's first assistant.

Also, Donahue is among

Saxbe's closest friends. He took leave of his Columbus law practice last February to direct the successful campaign.

Another plus factor for Donahue is his service as state tax commissioner. In what many saw as a personal favor to Rhodes, Donahue left Saxbe's staff to head the state department of taxation, an agency he is credited with improving during his one-year tenure.

Saxbe is expected to delay his resignation as attorney general until shortly before he is sworn in next Jan. 20 as Ohio's junior senator.

Ashville News Report

Mrs. John Sabine — 983-7831

The annual football banquet honoring the members of the varsity and freshmen teams, cheerleaders and members of the cross country team will be held in the Teays Valley High School cafeteria on Saturday, Nov. 9. This event is sponsored by the Athletic Booster Club and will begin with a carry-in dinner to be served at 6 p.m.

All parents, family and friends of the team members are cordially invited to attend. Each family is asked to bring a well-filled basket that includes a meat dish. Rolls, butter and beverages will be furnished by the Booster Club.

A dance for high school students will be held following the presentations of awards.

The members of the Christian Women's Circle of the Zion United Methodist Church will be fixing boxes to send to service men at their next meeting Nov. 14. Cookies, homemade candy, gum, etc. will be packed and sent to the boys for Christmas.

Mitzi Gregg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Gregg, was the honored guest at a Farewell Party last Thursday evening at the Ashville Coffee Shop. Hosts for the affair were David Schiff and Bill Toole.

Those attending played several games with prizes being awarded to the winners. Following the games supper was served to Janet Pettibone, Cindy Kraft, Linda Leatherwood, Valerie Houser, Tami Trego, Brad Sherman, Chris Gregg, Jeff Trimble, Mark Messick, Mark Singleton, the guest Mitzi and hosts David and Bill.

Serving the guests were Mrs. Dale Schiff, Mrs. Russell Toole and Mrs. Jean Weigand.

Mitzi received many gifts from those attending and all wished her good luck in her new school.

The Annual Halloween Party of the First English Lutheran Sunday school was held on Sunday, Oct. 27. A parade of masked characters, games and refreshments of cookies and punch were enjoyed by over 75 guests.

Dr. and Mrs. Lon Cromley, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bausum and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Trego were in charge of the affair.

The Bastian Funeral Home ambulance made the following runs this past week: Nov. 1, returned Walter Morrison to his home from Grant Hospital where he had been a patient for the past week; Nov. 1, took Ted Harber and Michael Green to Berger Hospital following a car accident.

On Monday, Nov. 4, a group of ladies of the Zion United Methodist Church traveled to the Otterbein Home at Lebanon, Ohio, to deliver a box of articles prepared by members of the church for residents of the Home. Those visiting the home and later enjoying dinner at the Golden Lamb Inn in Lebanon were Mae Alexander, Mabel Jinks, Orpha Walden, Betty Smith, Sonia Seymour, Edith Bixler, Edith Neal, Maggie Reid, Dorothy Cook, Ruth Fine, Ruth Weaver and Mildred Messick.

Ernestine Craig recently returned from a trip to Virginia visiting relatives and seeing points of interest. She was the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Woods of Grootoes, Virginia. She also visited Williamsburg where a cousin has a bake shop in the famous village. She and her hosts were guests on the ship, U.S.S. Canisteo and had dinner with a nephew stationed at the Norfolk Naval Station. While there they saw the John F. Kennedy flat-top ship anchored in the bay.

The October meeting of the Lydia Circle was held at the First English Lutheran Church with Mrs. Jennie Russell and Mrs. William Gale Sawyer as hostesses. Mrs. Harry Trego led the Bible Study on Psalms. The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Alfred Axe on Nov. 13.

The annual Halloween Parade sponsored by the Community Club members was held Thursday evening. The masked characters paraded through the streets of Ashville then to the Elementary School, where the judging took place. The parade was headed by the Teays Valley High School marching band and the Harrison Township Fire truck. Following the judging all participants were served cider and doughnuts by the Club. Winners were announced as follows: Pre-school age judged the prettiest were Christy McQuain, Michael and Susan Miller and Angela Noggle; ugliest, Lori Lambert, Ricky Foreman and Kathy Theado; most unusual, Dawn Rector, Shawna Fout, Treva Chaffin and Sherry Crosby; best clown, Rhonda Connell, Brian Cornelius and Jay Wippel. Youngstown Police Seek 3 Gunmen

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Youngstown police are searching for three gunmen who escaped Wednesday with more than $18,000 from a bank. Police said the men robbed three tellers at the Dollar Savings and Trust Co.'s South Side branch and then fled to a waiting getaway car through a parking lot.

Ben Tucci, a loan officer, told police he followed one of the men to the parking lot where the robbers pointed revolvers at him as they sped away in the auto.

Ashville News Report

Mrs. John Sabine — 983-7831

The annual football banquet honoring the members of the varsity and freshmen teams, cheerleaders and members of the cross country team will be held in the Teays Valley High School cafeteria on Saturday, Nov. 9. This event is sponsored by the Athletic Booster Club and will begin with a carry-in dinner to be served at 6 p.m.

All parents, family and friends of the team members are cordially invited to attend. Each family is asked to bring a well-filled basket that includes a meat dish, rolls, butter and beverages will be furnished by the Booster Club.

A dance for high school students will be held following the presentations of awards.

The members of the Christian Women's Circle of the Zion United Methodist Church will be taking boxes to send to service men at their next meeting Nov. 14. Cookies, homemade candy, gum, etc. will be packed and sent to the boys for Christmas.

Mitzi Gregg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Gregg, was the honored guest at a Farewell Party last Thursday evening at the Ashville Coffee Shop. Hosts for the affair were David Schiff and Bill Toole.

Those attending played several games with prizes being awarded to the winners. Following the games supper was served to Janet Petibone, Cindy Kraft, Linda Leatherwood, Valerie Houser, Taml Trego, Brad Sherman, Chris Gregg, Jeff Trimble, Mark Messick, Mark Singleton, the guest Mitzi and hosts David and Bill.

Serving the guests were Mrs. Dele Schiff, Mrs. Russell Toole and Mrs. Jean Weigand.

Mitzi received many gifts from those attending and all wished her good luck in her new school.

The Annual Halloween Party of the First English Lutheran Sunday school was held on Sunday, Oct. 27. A parade of masked characters, games and refreshments of cookies and punch were enjoyed by over 75 guests.

Dr. and Mrs. Lon Cromley, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Baumann and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Trego were in charge of the affair.

The Bastian Funeral Home ambulance made the following runs this past week: Nov. 1, returned Walter Morrison to his home from Grant Hospital where he had been a patient for the past week; Nov. 1, took Ted Harber and Michael Green to Berger Hospital following a car accident.

On Monday, Nov. 4, a group of ladies of the Zion United Methodist Church traveled to the Otterbein Home at Lebanon, Ohio, to deliver a box of articles prepared by members of the church for residents of the Home. Those visiting the home and later enjoying dinner at the Golden Lamb Inn in Lebanon were Mae Alexander, Mabel Jinks, Orpha Walden, Betty Smith, Sonia Seymour, Edith Bixler, Edith Neal, Maggie Reid, Dorothy Cook, Ruth Zine, Ruth Weaver and Mildred Messick.

Ernestine Craig recently returned from a trip to Virginia visiting relatives and seeing points of interest. She was the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Woods of Grootoes, Virginia. She also visited Williamsburg where a cousin has a bake shop in the famous village. She and her hosts were guests on the ship, U.S.S. Canisteo and had dinner with a nephew stationed at the Norfolk Naval Station. While there they saw the John F. Kennedy flat-top ship anchored in the bay.

The October meeting of the Lydia Circle was held at the First English Lutheran Church with Mrs. Jennie Russell and Mrs. William Gale Sawyer as hostesses. Mrs. Harry Trego led the Bible Study on Psalms.

The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Alfred Axe on Nov. 13.

The annual Halloween Parade sponsored by the Community Club members was held Thursday evening. The masked characters paraded through the streets of Ashville then to the Elementary School, where the judging took place. The parade was headed by the Teays Valley High School marching band and the Harrison Township Fire truck. Following the judging all participants were served cider and doughnuts by the Club. Winners were announced as follows: Pre-school age judged the prettiest were Christy McQuain, Michael and Susan Miller and Angela Noggle; ugliest, Lori Lambert, Richy Foreman and Kathy Theado; most unusual, Dawn Rector, Shawna Fout, Treva Chaffin and Sherry Crosby; best clown, Rhonda Connell, Brian Cornelius and Jay Wippel. Grade one through 3 winners were: prettiest, Robin Glick, Mark Prater and Valerie Manning; ugliest, Douglas Spurlock, Jerry Hollenback and Boyd Manning; most unusual, Brian McQuain, Chris Tussing and Doug Helser; best clown, John Guthell, Jeff Moody and Larry Rinehart.

Grades 4, 5, and 6 winners were: prettiest, Cindy Lockard, Kathy Kuhn and Kimberly Norris; ugliest, Dicky Gloyd, Phil Harris and Judy Wilson; most unusual, Kim Glick, Gwen Myers, Stanley and Kris Brown; best clown, Jo Ellen Irwin and James Little.

Winning in the group of seventh grade through grade twelve were: prettiest, Kathy Hoffman and Evelyn Hebert; ugliest, Glenn Heeter, Connie Morrison and Joyce Neff; most unusual, Rhonda Wilcoxon, Cathy Tussing and Vicki Eitel, Mark Kuhn, Brenda Hoover and Sharon Foreman; best clown, Gary Wilcoxon and Cathy Crosby.

In the adult class winners were: prettiest, Jerry Canter, Julia McQuain and Jean Chaffin; ugliest, Mrs. Oakley Thomas, Georgia Manning, and Ellen Toole; most unusual, Peg Speakman, Archie Stewart and Leah Kuhn; best clown, Joyce Connell, Susan Toole and Mike Seymour.

There was also a contest for pumpkin faces along with the mask competition. Winning prizes in the pumpkin face contest were Mike Neff, first; Jeff Beatty, second and Donald Crosby third.

The merchants in the village also decorated their windows for the holiday. Those winning prizes were Sines Market, first; Featheringham's Furniture, second; Ashville Coffee Shop, third, and Mary's Beauty Salon received honorable mention.

Results of the Tuesday Morning Housewives Bowling League for the past two weeks are: October 29, high single game and three game series, Peg Speakman, 191 and 501;

Youngstown Police Seek 3 Gunmen

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Youngstown police are searching for three gunmen who escaped Wednesday with more than $18,000 from a bank.

Police said the men robbed three tellers at the Dollar Savings and Trust Co.'s South Side branch and then fled to a waiting getaway car through a parking lot.

Ben Tucci, a loan officer, told police he followed one of the men to the parking lot where the robbers pointed revolvers at him as they sped away in the auto.

Columbia Gas Names Air Conditioning Specialists

THOMAS COLBURN

DELBERT WILSON

Thomas J. Colburn, of Findlay, and Delbert H. Wilson Jr., of Bucyrus, have been named air conditioning representatives for Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., in the Columbus area, it was announced today by C. R. Baker, Circleville manager for the gas company.

Colburn and Wilson will specialize in the promotion of air conditioning sales throughout the gas company's Columbus Division which includes Circleville and the surrounding area.

Colburn started with the gas company at Findlay as a meter reader in 1955 and became a serviceman in 1959.

Born at Adrian, Mich., Colburn was graduated from Findlay High School in 1955.

He is a member of First Lutheran Church, Findlay, and the Findlay Jaycees.

Colburn, 31, and his wife, Jeannine, have a son, Scott Alan, and a daughter, Shelly Lynn. They live at 430 Garfield St., Findlay.

Wilson was graduated from Bucyrus High School in 1961 and Cleveland Engineering Institute in 1964. He served in the Army from 1965 to 1967. Prior to joining the gas company he was a mechanical designer at North Electric Co., Galion.

He is a member of the board of trustees of First Baptist Church, Bucyrus.

Wilson, 24, and his wife, Margaret, have a son, Stephen. They live at 1443 Cullen Ct., Bucyrus.

Set Celebration For Donn Eisele

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The countdown is on here for a Nov. 22 welcome home celebration for Apollo 7 astronaut Don Eisele.

Eisele, who grew up in Columbus, will be honored with a parade and banquet. The city's request for the celebration was approved Wednesday by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Eisele, his wife and three children also will stay in Columbus for the Ohio State - Michigan football game Nov. 23.

Wallace Voter Without Choice

BLOOMFIELD, Conn. (AP)—Last week a group of fifth graders used machines in a mock election in the town clerk's office.

Third-party candidate George C. Wallace received one vote.

The teacher in charge learned Wednesday that vote was cast by a little girl who could reach only the lowest lever—Wallace's.

White House 'Style' To Change

NEW YORK (AP)—When the Richard Nixon move into the White House they will bring with them a style of entertaining that is a unique blend of California casualness and New York sophistication.

It won't be Camelot, but it won't be Main Street either. It will reflect a nonswinging middle class America that has taste and friendliness.

Social Washington embraced the John F. Kennedy administration's entertaining, as purveyed by beautiful Jacqueline of the cultural interests. It coexisted with the Lyndon B. Johnsons' variety.

The President-elect is believed to favor a little more formality in dress and manner of entertaining than his immediate predecessors. But the next First Lady will see to it that every visitor, whether it's the littlest Girl Scout or the most regal potentate, is made to feel welcome.

Slim, blonde Pat Nixon, 56 is an admitted introvert who has overcome a basic shyness in meeting people. She has no difficulty in putting guests at ease.

She once said that a First Lady's greatest contribution is "to make friendly contact with leaders of other nations." She has been doing that for years.

When her husband was vice president she had experience acting as official hostess at state functions. "On-the-job training" she calls it now.

Accompanying Nixon on goodwill missions around the world during the last decade and a half has given her a formidable first-hand knowledge—and woman's-eye view—of the people of at least 60 nations.

Mrs. Nixon likes small, candle-lit sit-down dinners, with guest lists well seasoned with people in the arts, professions, business. These will provide a change of pace from large state dinners, along with open houses for young people which she loves to give for her daughters Julie, 20, and Tricia, 22.

The rose garden may be a setting for dinner occasionally, since the next First Lady is a devoted gardener.

The Nixons like well-cooked but simple American fare—a favorite menu includes tenderloin, green peas, puffed potatoes, zucchini and tomatoes, popovers. But Mrs. Nixon is fully aware of the importance of serving gourmet food to distinguished guests.

In New York Mrs. Nixon's favorite entertainment for out-of-town guests is to take them to art galleries—the Frick collection is her favorite. Now the Washington galleries can expect frequent attendance from the White House ladies.

Entertainment at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue will draw from the best in American culture—dancers, writers, musicians, actors, singers—with possibly an emphasis on classical music, which the piano-playing President-elect prefers. Mrs. Nixon likes lighter music.

Stokes Already Needles Nixon

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Mayor Carl B. Stokes said Wednesday he will do everything possible to help President-elect Richard M. Nixon meet the problems of the big cities.

Stokes, a Negro, who campaigned for Nixon's opponent Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, said he will urge the Republican to utilize programs "envisaged by Humphrey to help those in the big cities fight urban blight and decay."

He warned that the election result could cost Cleveland millions of dollars in federal aid if Nixon does not show the same concern for urban problems that the Mayor said Humphrey would have shown.

GOP Hopes For Upset In Maryland

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Republicans nursed a faint hope today that Maryland, home state of Vice President-elect Spiro T. Agnew, still might wind up in the GOP column.

The glimmer of hope was based on the counting of 36,000 absentee ballots which could erase the 18,000-vote margin given Hubert H. Humphrey in the unofficial returns from Tuesday's voting.

But it would take about 28,000 of these ballots for Nixon-Agnew to give the GOP slate Maryland's 10 electoral votes.

Counting started in some counties on Wednesday along with the official tally of Tuesday's votes. There was no indication when the final result would be known.

Nixon carried 20 of Maryland's 23 counties for a total of 502,059 votes in Tuesday's balloting. But Humphrey, riding the crest on wave of Democratic votes in Baltimore City, pulled into the lead with 519,797 votes. Third-party candidate George C. Wallace had 177,514 votes.

Baldwin-Wallace Eyes Regulations

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A student bill governing disruptive campus demonstrations and providing possible dismissal of persons guilty of such actions will be considered this weekend by the Baldwin-Wallace College faculty and trustees.

The Student Senate recently passed the bill which also would establish a 12-member judicial board to consider appeals of rulings on demonstrations. The board would be composed of five students, five faculty members and two members of the administration.

IN COLUMBUS, OHIO, Republican William Saxbe gets a congratulatory kiss from wife Dolly on defeating Democrat John J. Gilligan for the U.S. Senate. Saxbe is state attorney general. Gilligan ousted Sen. Frank Lausche in primary.

Social Washington embraced the John F. Kennedy administration's entertaining, as portrayed by beautiful Jacqueline of the cultural interests. It coexisted with the Lyndon B. Johnsons' variety.

The President-elect is believed to favor a little more formality in dress and manner of entertaining than his immediate predecessors. But the next First Lady will see to it that every visitor, whether it's the littlest Girl Scout or the most regal potentate, is made to feel welcome.

Slim, blonde Pat Nixon, 56 is an admitted introvert who has overcome a basic shyness in meeting people. She has no difficulty in putting guests at ease.

She once said that a First Lady's greatest contribution is "to make friendly contact with leaders of other nations." She has been doing that for years.

When her husband was vice president she had experience acting as official hostess at state functions. "On-the-job training" she calls it now.

Accompanying Nixon on good-will missions around the world during the last decade and a half has given her a formidable first-hand knowledge—and woman's-eye view—of the people of at least 60 nations.

Mrs. Nixon likes small, candle-lit sit-down dinners, with guest lists well seasoned with people in the arts, professions, business. These will provide a change of pace from large state dinners, along with open houses for young people which she loves to give for her daughters Julie, 20, and Tricia, 22.

The rose garden may be a setting for dinner occasionally, since the next First Lady is a devoted gardener.

The Nixons like well-cooked but simple American fare—a favorite menu includes tenderloin, green peas, puffed potatoes, zucchini and tomatoes, popovers. But Mrs. Nixon is fully aware of the importance of serving gourmet food to distinguished guests.

In New York Mrs. Nixon's favorite entertainment for out-of-town guests is to take them to art galleries—the Frick collection is her favorite. Now the Washington galleries can expect frequent attendance from the White House ladies.

Entertainment at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue will draw from the best in American culture—dancers, writers, musicians, actors, singers—with possibly an emphasis on classical music, which the piano-playing President-elect prefers. Mrs. Nixon likes lighter music.

Stokes Already Needles Nixon

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Mayor Carl B. Stokes said Wednesday he will do everything possible to help President-elect Richard M. Nixon meet the problems of the big cities.

Stokes, a Negro, who campaigned for Nixon's opponent Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, said he will urge the Republican to utilize programs "envisioned by Humphrey to help those in the big cities fight urban blight and decay."

He warned that the election result could cost Cleveland millions of dollars in federal aid if Nixon does not show the same concern for urban problems that the Mayor said Humphrey would have shown.

"RUSSIANS GO HOME"—Shouting "Russians go home" and "Long live freedom" as they marched to Prague Castle, some of the 3,000 young demonstrators climb the gates of the castle, where leaders of Soviet-occupied Czechoslovakia were celebrating the 50th anniversary of the founding of the nation. Logan Elm Grid Banquet Slated

The Logan Elm High School football awards banquet will be held 6:30 p.m. Saturday at the high school.

A carry-in fete, the banquet is sponsored by the Logan Elm Booster Club.

Principal speaker at the banquet will be Bob Wion, head coach at Worthington High School.

Wion has 16 years in the coaching profession, 15 of them coming as head coach at the high school level and one year as an assistant at Purdue.

HE began his high school coaching career at Covington, where he had three championship teams in five years. Moving to Barnesville, he coached the squad there to one championship during a two year tenure.

He coached at Martin's Ferry, winning four football championships in five years. He had three undefeated seasons and set an Ohio Valley Record of 32 straight wins. Prior to coming to Worthington, he coached two years at Howe High School in Indianapolis, Ind.

His coaching record to date is 106 wins, 34 losses and four ties.

Special awards that will be given at the banquet include the Most Valuable Player award, the Most Improved Player Award, and a new trophy presented by the Hall-Adkins American Legion Post to the best lineman in addition to the regular varsity awards.

Carrier Scores 48 Points As Colonels Smash Pipers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
As far as the Minnesota Pipers are concerned, Darel Carrier sure picked a lousy time to go on a 48-point scoring binge.

Carrier's career-tying outburst Wednesday night guided the Kentucky Colonels to a 131-112 rout of the Pipers their first setback in five American Basketball Association games this season.

In other ABA activity, Denver nipped Indiana 109-107 in overtime. Miami whipped New Orleans 123-109 and Los Angeles defeated Dallas 123-117.

Carrier, who scored 48 points in a game with New Orleans last season, drilled in seven three-point shots from beyond the 25-foot range in powering Kentucky from a five-point half-time deficit to a 92-84 command at the end of three quarters.

Darel's showing overshadowed performances by Minnesota's three gunners—Connie Hawkins, Charles Vaughn and Charlie Williams. Hawkins had 32 points while Vaughn, who hit six straight three-point attempts, and Williams each had 26.

Denver's Wayne Hightower connected on a hook shot with 16 seconds left to send the game into overtime, and Larry Jones tallied on a driving layup and later hit a crucial free throw in the extra session, enabling the Rockets to win their first game in five starts.

Lonnie Wright led Denver with 26 points, while Indiana's Mel Daniels had 29.

Toledo Downs Columbus Checkers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Chic Balon, Lee Inglis, Greg Jablon-ski and Ray Germain scored a goal each as Toledo downed Columbus 4-1 in an International Hockey League game here Wednesday night.

The Checkers' lone goal was scored by Doug Volmar, his eighth in seven games.

Angels Buy Amaro

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP)—The California Angels bought veteran infielder Ruben Amaro from the New York Yankees Wednesday in a straight cash deal. The price was not disclosed, but was estimated at $20,000.

Cincinnati Reds Defeated, 5-2

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Tony Gonigla played his first game as an outfielder Wednesday since his unsuccessful comeback attempt last spring and had a solid single plus a 400-foot foul in three at bats.

The Boston Red Sox defeated Cincinnati Reds 5-2 in an Instructional League game as Tony singled in the first inning and triggered a three-run rally. He took a called third strike after belting his towering foul in the second, and he popped out in his third and final time up.

All this was on a sunny day with the type of glare which he says has bothered him most since he suffered an eye injury when hit by a pitch Aug. 18, 1967.

Black Hawks Bashed, 6-5, By Red Wings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Detroit Red Wings used something old and something new but in the end it was Bruce MacGregor who left the Chicago Black Hawks blue.

The something old was Gordie Howe, performing for the 23rd season in the National Hockey League. The something new was young Nick Libett, a rookie center, who won't be 23 years old until next month. Both Howe and Libett scored two goals—Gordie's pair giving him 694 in regular season play.

But it was MacGregor's third-period goal that sunk the Hawks 6-5 Wednesday night.

In other NHL action, Toronto nipped Minnesota 1-0, Boston bombed Philadelphia 7-1, St. Louis dropped Pittsburgh 3-1 and Los Angeles blanked New York 2-0.

Bobby Hull had four assists and took over the NHL scoring lead from Chicago teammate Stan Mikita. Hull has nine goals and 13 assists for 22 points compared to Mikita's 5-13-18.

Toronto spoiled John Muckle's debut as Minnesota coach by nipping the North Stars on a third period goal by Paul Henderson.

The fiercely forechecking Leafs protected goalie Bruce Gamble, who played the shutout in only his second start of the season. Most of Minnesota's 27 shots were harmless.

Henderson, roaming free about 20 feet in front of Minnesota goalie Cesare Maniago, whipped a waist high shot for the goal after taking a pass from Floyd Smith.

St. Louis bunched three goals in 11 minutes of the second period to beat Pittsburgh. The trio of scores came after the Penguins' Earl Ingarfield had snapped a scoreless tie in the second period.

Then Camille Henry, the West Division's leading scorer, potted his eighth goal of the year and Bill McCreary and Ab MacDonald also hit.

NEW YORK (AP)—Alan Page's pass rush last Sunday helped him win for the 6-foot-4 defensive tackle of the Minnesota Vikings The Associated Press' designation as defensive player of the week in the National Football League.

Washington's passers had been smeared only nine times in seven previous games and Sonny Jurgensen, in particular, had been dumped only six times. Minnesota got to the passer eight times last Sunday in a 27-14 win, plucking Jurgensen seven times and rookie Harry Theofiles once.

Bubba Smith, another second year man, was awarded the game ball by the Baltimore Colts after their 26-0 shutout of the New York Giants. Bubba made one big move to drag down Fran Tarkenton on a broken play and he put pressure on Tarkenton all day.

Canadians Beaten

GOETEBORG (AP)—Sweden's National ice hockey team beat the Canadian Western Division team 2-1 in an exhibition Wednesday night.

Lower End Of Small College Grid Poll Shifts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The lower end of The Associated Press Top Ten in small college football underwent some shuffling today, but up front the tune was the same as the first 4 1/2 places remained firm.

The half came up in the No. 5 position in which Tampa broke a deadlock with Weber State with a 22-19 victory last Saturday over Northern Michigan while Weber was dropping to 11th after a 50-42 loss to Idaho.

San Diego, North Dakota State, Chattanooga and New Mexico Highlands held their 1-2-3-4 spots with easy victories, although San Diego had its first place lead cut.

The Aztecs drew 10 of the 16 first-place votes and 266 points, down four top votes and 46 points from last week, despite a 42-12 rout over Fresno State. North Dakota State, with one first-place vote, had 232 points, a drop of 37 but a pick up of nine on San Diego.

Chattanooga, with one first place vote, had 191 points after a 20-6 decision over Tennessee Tech, and New Mexico Highlands had one top vote and 181 points after a 70-7 barrage of Western Colorado.

Eastern Kentucky moved up from seventh to sixth with a 21-20 squeaker over Murray State, and Indiana, Pa., moved from eighth to seventh after bombing California, Pa., 41-0. Western Kentucky rose from 10th to ninth by beating Morehead 24-21.

Texas A&I and Arkansas State joined the Top Ten, A&I

jumping from 11th to eighth with a 43-0 victory over Sul Ross, and Arkansas moved from 13th to 10th by blasting Lamar Tech 48-17.

Dropping out with Weber was Morgan State, which had a 31-game winning streak ended with a 7-6 loss to North Carolina A&T and fell from ninth to 14th.

Lenoir Rhyne moved from 18th to 12th and Appalachian from 19th to 13th for the biggest improvement. Kings Point and Emory & Henry joined the first 20 at 17th and 18th respectively, while Central Michigan and East Texas State dropped out from 16th and 17th, although East Texas won last Saturday.

Points are awarded for the first 15 picks by a panel of sports writers and sportscasters throughout the country on the basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1.

The top 20, with first-place votes, records and total points:

1. San Diego State (10)	7-0 266	9. West. Kentucky	7-1
2. No. Da. State (3)	8-0 232	10. Arkansas State	7-1
3. Chattanooga (1)	8-0 207	11. Weber State	6-2
4. N. Mex. Highlands (1)	9-0 181	12. Lenoir Rhyne	6-2
5. Tampa	6-1 170	13. Appalachian	6-2
6. East. Kentucky	6-1 132	14. Morgan State	5-2
7. Indiana, Pa. (1)	8-0 115	15. Akron	5-2
8. Texas A&I (1)	6-2 96	16. Troy State	8-0
		17. Kings Point	7-2
		18. Texas Arlington	4-3
		19. Tie Emory & Henry	7-1
		20. Northern Michigan	6-3

CHS Tigers Face Final Grid Tilt At Reynoldsburg

The Circleville High School football team, riddled by late season injuries, faces powerful Reynoldsburg Friday on the latter's field.

Missing from the lineup will be sophomores Tom Bowers and Bob Radcliff. Bowers sustained a concussion early in the third period against Franklin Heights last week.

Although he is in "good shape" according to Coach

Denny Williams, the nature of the injury requires a two week lay-off from action.

Radcliff suffered a broken finger in the first half against Franklin Heights and is out of the season.

DURING practice this week, Bruce Liston twisted a knee and will not be able to play. Mike Henderson, who sprained an ankle against Franklin Heights, may dress for the final game but he is not expected to see very much action.

The starting backfield will be composed of Rick Sims, quarterback; Danny Smith and Frankie Carter, half-backs, Will Bost, fullback.

Chris Long, a sophomore, may also see plenty of playing time at halfback.

DON Cordle will start at center again. Flanking him will be Jim Samuel and Mark Ralston. Steve Olney and Wayne Garrison are the tackles and Dick Walters and Phil Diehl will start at ends.

The Tigers, winners of only three games, will have their hands full against Reynoldsburg, loser of only two.

The Raiders have one of the leading scorers in the Columbus area in a 160 pound halfback, Davis.

They have a multiple offense, running from a fullhouse T, and variations of the T and I formations.

They also have a multiple defense and have used everything from a 6-1 monster to a 5-4 Oklahoma and a new defense in which all 11 players line up in a two point stance.

Circleville's offense came to life in the second half against Franklin Heights last week with Sims directing the attack.

HE started the year at quarterback, but the versatile senior has been switched to halfback and to fullback in an effort to beef up the attack.

Frankie Carter had his best night of the year against the Falcons.

The football season ends with the game Friday. On Sunday the South Central Ohio League coaches meet to select the All-League team, which will be announced Monday night at the annual SCO fall banquet.

The Circleville Booster Club's annual fall banquet honoring members of the football and cross country teams, cheerleaders and managers will be held Dec. 5.

Lower End Of Small College Grid Poll Shifts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The lower end of The Associated Press Top Ten in small college football underwent some shuffling today, but up front the tune was the same as the first 4½ places remained firm.

The half came up in the No. 5 position in which Tampa broke a deadlock with Weber State with a 22-19 victory last Saturday over Northern Michigan while Weber was dropping to 11th after a 50-42 loss to Idaho.

San Diego, North Dakota State, Chattanooga and New Mexico Highlands held their 1-2-3-4 spots with easy victories, although San Diego had its first place lead cut.

The Aztecs drew 10 of the 16 first-place votes and 266 points, down four top votes and 48 points from last week, despite a 42-12 rout over Fresno State. North Dakota State, with one first-place vote, had 232 points, a drop of 37 but a pick up of nine on San Diego.

Chattanooga, with one first place vote, had 191 points after a 20-6 decision over Tennessee Tech, and New Mexico Highlands had one top vote and 181 points after a 70-7 barrage of Western Colorado.

Eastern Kentucky moved up from seventh to sixth with a 21-20 squeaker over Murray State, and Indiana, Pa., moved from eighth to seventh after bombing California, Pa., 41-0. Western Kentucky rose from 10th to ninth by beating Morehead 24-21.

Texas A&I and Arkansas State joined the Top Ten, A&I

jumping from 11th to eighth with a 43-0 victory over Sul Ross, and Arkansas moved from 13th to 10th by blasting Lamar Tech 48-17.

Dropping out with Weber was Morgan State, which had a 31-game winning streak ended with a 7-6 loss to North Carolina A&T and fell from ninth to 14th.

Lenoir Rhyne moved from 18th to 12th and Appalachian from 19th to 13th for the biggest improvement. Kings Point and Emory & Henry joined the first 20 at 17th and 18th respectively, while Central Michigan and East Texas State dropped out from 16th and 17th, although East Texas won last Saturday.

Points are awarded for the first 15 picks by a panel of sports writers and sportscasters throughout the country on the basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1.

The top 20, with first-place votes, records and total points:

1. San Diego State (10) 7-0 266
2. No. Da. State (1) 8-0 232
3. Chattanooga (1) 8-0 207
4. N. Mex. Highl'ds (1) 9-0 181
5. Tampa 6-1 170
6. East. Kentucky 6-1 132
7. Indiana, Pa. (1) 8-0 115
8. Texas A&I (1) 6-2 96
9. West. Kentucky 7-1 80
10. Arkansas State 6-1 74
11. Weber State 6-1 66
12. Lenoir Rhyne 6-1 49
13. Appalachian 6-1 43
14. Morgan State 5-1 32
15. Akron 5-2 31
16. Troy State 8-0 30
17. Kings Point 7-0 28
18. Texas Arlington 4-3 24
19. Tie Emory & Henry 7-1 23
20. Northern Michigan 6-3 23

CHS Tigers Face Final Grid Tilt At Reynoldsburg

The Circleville High School football team, riddled by late season injuries, faces powerful Reynoldsburg Friday on the latter's field.

Missing from the lineup will be sophomores Tom Bowers and Bob Radcliff. Bowers sustained a concussion early in the third period against Franklin Heights last week.

Although he is in "good shape" according to Coach

Denny Williams, the nature of the injury requires a two week lay-off from action.

Radcliff suffered a broken finger in the first half against Franklin Heights and is out of the season.

DURING practice this week, Bruce Liston twisted a knee and will not be able to play. Mike Henderson, who sprained an ankle against Franklin Heights, may dress for the final game but he is not expected to see very much action.

The starting backfield will be composed of Rick Sims, quarterback; Danny Smith and Frankie Carter, half-backs, Will Bost, fullback.

Chris Long, a sophomore, may also see plenty of playing time at halfback.

DON Cordle will start at center again. Flanking him will be Jim Samuel and Mark Ralston. Steve Olney and Wayne Garrison are the tackles and Dick Walters and Phil Diehl will start at ends.

The Tigers, winners of only three games, will have their hands full against Reynoldsburg, loser of only two.

The Raiders have one of the leading scorers in the Columbus

area in a 160 pound halfback, Davis.

They have a multiple offense, running from a fullhouse T, and variations of the T and I formations.

They also have a multiple defense and have used everything from a 6-1 monster to a 5-4 Oklahoma and a new defense in which all 11 players line up in a two point stance.

Circleville's offense came to life in the second half against Franklin Heights last week with Sims directing the attack.

HE started the year at quarterback, but the versatile senior has been switched to halfback and to fullback in an effort to beef up the attack.

Frankie Carter had his best night of the year against the Falcons.

The football season ends with the game Friday. On Sunday the South Central Ohio League coaches meet to select the All-League team, which will be announced Monday night at the annual SCO fall banquet.

The Circleville Booster Club's annual fall banquet honoring members of the football and cross country teams, cheerleaders and managers will be held Dec. 5.

Westfall Has 51 Candidates For Cage Squad

Westfall High School basketball coach Paul Hoskins reported that 51 candidates turned out for the roundball sport.

Of the 51, six are seniors, seven juniors, 15 sophomores and the rest are freshmen.

Hoskins will have regular starters back in Tony Lightie, Ed Cornwell and Gene Carrey. Other seniors are Bob Osterle, Bob Barnes and Jim Lett.

The junior candidates include Tom Hawker, Greg Bigam, Rick Beatty, Bill Blair, Steve Sines, Keith Eitel and Rick Maurer.

A MEMBER of the Scioto Valley Conference, the Mustangs should be one of the better teams in the league.

"I hope we are the team to beat," says Hoskins. He is quick to point out, however, that the SVC should be well balanced this year with just about any of the teams capable of developing into title contenders.

Missing from last year's squad are Andy Hamman and Charles Palmer, the starting guards, and Ron Fletcher, a regular at forward and Charles and Ron Ward.

Jim Ferguson Heads Baseball Writers

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America elected Jim Ferguson of the Dayton Daily News Wednesday night as its new chairman.

Ferguson succeeds Bill Ford of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

1. Card of Thanks

We wish to thank everyone who attended our Golden Anniversary celebration. We also extend our appreciation to those who sent cards, gifts, and flowers.
Mr. and Mrs. Kelley Hinton
I would like to express my gratitude to my relatives, friends and neighbors who helped in any way to make my recent stay in Mt. Carmel Hospital a more pleasant one. Thanks for the beautiful flowers, your visits and for the many cards, notes and letters of encouragement. A special thanks to Rev. Carl Zehner for his visits and prayers and to Dr. Swope for his help. All was appreciated very much.

Traffic Accidents Claim 6 During Bad Weather Period

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ohio's traffic deaths, which hit a near-record count of 33 during the last weekend period, was continuing at a high rate at mid-week.

The deaths:
John K. Moses, 24, of Cleveland.

Leslie Hartshorne, 32, South Bloomingville, Hocking County. Lawrence Schroeder, 70, of Cincinnati.

Roy Knipp, 17, of Dayton. Emilee Ward, 26, of Brookville, Montgomery County.

Katherine Huff, 38, of Miami.

Moses was killed early Thursday when his automobile crashed into a utility pole on the Main Avenue Bridge in Cleveland.

Hartshorne was killed Wednesday when his car crossed the center line on a Hocking County road near Laurelville and smashed into another automobile.

Underpass In Ashville Requested

A request propping an underpass to be constructed was made to Ashville Village Council when they met in regular session Monday.

The request made by Guy Leatherwood, stemmed from the incident Saturday when a fire was called to the Fire Station reporting a blaze at the Ed Leatherwood residence. What would have been a normal minor ramp-out turned out to be something short of a disaster due to the fact that the fire equipment was held up because of a train on the N & W Railroad tracks.

Fire Chief Don Thompson stated that the delay of five or six minutes caused extensive damage to the upper part of the home. One can realize the helplessness of the firemen waiting on the other side of the tracks while the fire grew in intensity. Under normal conditions the firemen can arrive at the scene of a fire within a minute or two, and everyone knows that every second counts where fires are concerned. Leatherwood did not elaborate on the ways and means of securing an underpass but emphasized that plans should begin immediately to determine the proper location and costs for such a project.

Campus Church Plans Rally Day

The Campus Church of Christ in Christian Union will hold a Rally Day Sunday morning, Nov. 10.

The speaker will be Connie Harper from Washington C. H. Miss Harper has been engaged in Christian Evangelism throughout the United States for the past several years. The church choir will provide vocal music selections.

Sunday evening will be the monthly missionary service. Bob Simmons and Mary Jane Stewart, missionary interns to Dominica, will be the speakers. Miss Stewart will also provide vocal music selections in this service.

Schroeder was killed Wednesday when he was struck by an automobile as he walked in the middle of Columbia Parkway in Cincinnati.

Knipp died in Kettering Memorial Hospital, Dayton, Wednesday night of injuries received in a traffic accident in Kettering last Saturday night.

Mrs. Ward was killed Wednesday in the collision of two automobiles at a Montgomery County rural intersection. Three other persons were hurt.

3 Men Forfeit Bonds For Illegal Hunt

Three Ashville area men forfeited $24 bonds in Circleville Municipal Court today when they failed to appear on a charge of duck hunting after hours.

Cited by Tom Weldon, game protector, the three were identified as Larry Weeks, Rodney Bodley and Donald Hodge.

Foreign Reaction To Nixon Election Mostly Favorable

LONDON (AP) — Foreign reaction to Richard M. Nixon's election was widely favorable today, with conservatives enthusiastic, socialists cool to lukewarm and communists critical.

Hanoi and Saigon were silent, but South Vietnamese officials before the election preferred the Republican candidate because they considered him more hawkish than Hubert H. Humphrey.

In the first Soviet comment on Nixon's election, Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, said he was the "big business" candidate who won strong support in the large cities because he promised to suppress the "Negro upheaval."

Pravda said neither Nixon nor Humphrey gave the American people a "clear answer to questions of war and peace," and as a result "Americans quite openly voted not so much for as against one candidate or another."

In Asia, there was some concern and criticism mixed amid general approval of the election outcome. But anti-Communist leaders who know Nixon from his many visits to their areas welcomed his election and expressed confidence he would maintain close U.S. ties with the area.

In Venezuela, where Nixon was treated roughly on a visit 10 years ago, his election aroused some disappointment. Crowds in Caracas on election night cheered returns in which Humphrey led.

The Times of London said the first condition for success of Nixon's presidency would be to end the Vietnam war and added that "on foreign policy, Mr. Nixon's stated position accords with realities. Before the invasion of Czechoslovakia his harder line on Russia might have seemed a mere echo of Dullesism, but its tone now is probably about right for Europe's needs."

The London Daily Express noted that Britain's next ambassador to Washington, John Freeman, may be embarrassed because while editor of the weekly New Statesman he frequently attacked Nixon.

West Germans appeared pleased at Nixon's election. To a small sampling, at least, he presented an image of a no-nonsense man who would stand up to Soviet communism. Finance Minister Franz Joseph Strauss cabled the President-elect: "The American people have made a good decision. The free world has gained a good leader."

An Egyptian government spokesman in Cairo attacked all three presidential candidates as supporters of the Israeli "aggression" against the Arabs. In Israel, the man in the street recalled Nixon's strong stance during the campaign in favor of Israel. "Now all we have to do is wait and see that he lives up to those promises," one political writer said.

Chinese Communist newspapers in Hong Kong called Nixon "a hawk who has not given up the threat of new weapons and new military action in Vietnam."

Hong Kong editions of Peking's Ta Kung Pao and Shanghai's Wen Wei Pao also labeled Nixon a "rotten champion of American imperialism."

There was no reaction from Peking itself.

Solid pro-Nixon sentiment was evident on Formosa, Nationalist

China's island. "I am pleased," said Premier Thanom Kittikachorn of Thailand. South Korean Information Minister Hong Chong-chul said Nixon would help strengthen ties among non-Communist nations. A Japanese foreign ministry spokesman said his government feels Nixon will ask Asian countries to shoulder a greater burden of responsibility for their defense. Concerning policy toward Japan, he said he feels Nixon "will follow the same fundamental line of the Johnson administration on basic issues."

Foreign Reaction To Nixon Election Mostly Favorable

LONDON (AP) — Foreign reaction to Richard M. Nixon's election was widely favorable today, with conservatives enthusiastic, socialists cool to lukewarm and communists critical.

Hanoi and Saigon were silent, but South Vietnamese officials before the election preferred the Republican candidate because they considered him more hawkish than Hubert H. Humphrey.

In the first Soviet comment on Nixon's election, Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, said he was the "big business" candidate who won strong support in the large cities because he promised to suppress the "Negro upheaval."

Pravda said neither Nixon nor Humphrey gave the American people a "clear answer to questions of war and peace," and as a result "Americans quite openly voted not so much for as against one candidate or another."

In Asia, there was some concern and criticism mixed amid general approval of the election outcome. But anti-Communist leaders who know Nixon from his many visits to their areas welcomed his election and expressed confidence he would maintain close U.S. ties with the area.

In Venezuela, where Nixon was treated roughly on a visit 10 years ago, his election aroused some disappointment. Crowds in Caracas on election night cheered returns in which Humphrey led.

The Times of London said the first condition for success of Nixon's presidency would be to end the Vietnam war and added that "on foreign policy, Mr. Nixon's stated position accords with realities. Before the invasion of Czechoslovakia his harder line on Russia might have seemed a mere echo of Dullesism, but its tone now is probably about right for Europe's needs."

The London Daily Express noted that Britain's next ambassador to Washington, John Freeman, may be embarrassed because while editor of the weekly New Statesman he frequently attacked Nixon.

West Germans appeared pleased at Nixon's election. To a small sampling, at least, he presented an image of a no-nonsense man who would stand up to Soviet communism. Finance Minister Franz Joseph Strauss cabled the President-elect: "The American people have made a good decision. The free world has gained a good leader."

An Egyptian government spokesman in Cairo attacked all three presidential candidates as supporters of the Israeli "aggression" against the Arabs. In Israel, the man in the street recalled Nixon's strong stance during the campaign in favor of Israel. "Now all we have to do is wait and see that he lives up to those promises," one political writer said.

Chinese Communist newspapers in Hong Kong called Nixon "a hawk who has not given up the threat of new weapons and new military action in Vietnam."

Hong Kong editions of Peking's Ta Kung Pao and Shanghai's Wen Wei Pao also labeled Nixon a "rotten champion of American imperialism."

There was no reaction from Peking itself.

Solid pro-Nixon sentiment was evident on Formosa, Nationalist China's island.

"I am pleased," said Premier Thanom Kittikachorn of Thailand. South Korean Information Minister Hong Chong-chul said Nixon would help strengthen ties among non-Communist nations.

A Japanese foreign ministry spokesman said his government feels Nixon will ask Asian countries to shoulder a greater burden of responsibility for their defense. Concerning policy toward Japan, he said he feels Nixon "will follow the same fundamental line of the Johnson administration on basic issues."
